4 The nature and meaning of institutions: towards a theory of institutional change 49

Introduction 49
The meaning of institutions 49
The origin and function of institutional behavior 50
Towards a theory of institutional change 55
Notes 63

5 The institutional theory of human conduct and economic behavior 65

Introduction 65
The role of emulation 68
Reason, deliberation, and forethought in institutional economics and its relation to utilitarianism and the means–ends dichotomy 74
Notes 80

6 Towards a theory of human needs and social minima 85

Introduction 85
The substantive concept of human needs 87
Social minima and the substantive concept of human needs 89
The objectification of human needs 92
Conclusion 96
Notes 99

7 The institutional concept of capital and the process of capital formation 102

Introduction 102
Classical antecedents 103
The concept of capital 104
Capital formation 110
Conclusion 116
Notes 117

8 The interaction between technology and business enterprise 119

Introduction 119
Technology viewed as an institution 119
The imperatives of modern industrial techniques 123
Early conflicts and contradictions 127
Notes 131