A Future for Capitalism
Classical, Neoclassical and Keynesian Perspectives

Peter Flaschel
Professor of Economics
Bielefeld University, Germany

Alfred Greiner
Professor of Economics
Bielefeld University, Germany

Edward Elgar
Cheltenham, UK • Northampton, MA, USA
Contents

Notations ix
General Introduction xiii

Part I Stabilizing an Unstable Economy: The Challenge in Place

1 Real-Financial Market Interactions and the Choice of Policy Measures
1.1 Introduction
1.2 Keynesian Business Cycles: A Portfolio Approach
1.3 Capital Markets
1.4 The Feedback Structure of the Model
1.5 Basic Sources of Instability
1.6 Dampened Business Cycles: Labor Market and Fiscal Policies
1.7 Dampened Business Cycles: Monetary Policy
1.8 Conclusions

Part II Classical Unbalanced Growth and Social Evolution

2 Income Security within the Bounds of the Reserve Army Mechanism
2.1 The Classical Theory of Capital Accumulation
2.2 Marx's Critique of the Classical Accumulation Theory
2.3 Goodwin’s Distributive Growth Cycle Model
2.4 Hiring and Firing, Social Security and Restricted Reserve Army Fluctuations
2.5 Minimum Wages in an Extended Goodwin Growth Cycle Model
2.6 Conclusions

3 Segmentated Labor Markets and Low Income Work
  3.1 Introduction
  3.2 The Classical Employment Cycle with a Low Wage Income Sector
  3.3 Free Hiring and Firing, Income Security and Socially Acceptable Reserve Army Fluctuations
  3.4 Conclusions

4 Atypical Employment and Smooth Factor Substitution
  4.1 Introduction
  4.2 The Model
  4.3 Dynamics
  4.4 Policy Issues and Minimum Wage Restrictions
  4.5 Conclusions

Appendix A: Fixed Proportions in Production 107
Appendix B: The Low Wage Adjustment Process 109

Part III Unemployment and Welfare Issues in Models of Endogenous Growth

5 Economic Growth with an Employer of Last Resort: A Simple Model of Flexicurity Capitalism
  5.1 Introduction
  5.2 A Baseline Flexicurity Model of Economic Growth
  5.3 Analysis of the Model with Exogenous Growth
  5.4 The Model with Endogenous Growth
  5.5 Conclusion

6 Economic Policy in a Growth Model with Human Capital, Heterogenous Agents and Unemployment
  6.1 Introduction
  6.2 The Structure of the Growth Model
  6.3 The Balanced Growth Path
  6.4 Comparative Statics of the Balanced Growth Path
  6.5 Welfare Effects of Fiscal Policy