The Invention of Market Freedom

ERIC MACGILVRAY
Ohio State University
Contents

Acknowledgments

Introduction: Republicanism and the Market
  I.1. The Problem of Constraint
  I.2. Two Concepts of Liberty?
  I.3. Overview

1. Republican Freedom
  1.1. Republicanism and Liberalism
  1.2. The Social Origins of Freedom
  1.3. Republican Means
  1.4. Republican Ends
  1.5. Ambiguity and Resilience

2. Liberalism before Liberty
  2.1. Egalitarianism and Individualism
  2.2. The Juristic Turn
  2.3. Natural Liberty and Absolute Government: From Aquinas to Hobbes
  2.4. Natural Liberty and Limited Government: From Aquinas to Locke
  2.5. Locke on Liberty

3. The Rise of Commerce
  3.1. Commerce and Christianity
  3.2. From Theology to History
  3.3. Pax Commercialis?
  3.4. Wealth and Virtue
  3.5. A House Divided
4. The Market Synthesis
   4.1. The Lockean Legacy 115
   4.2. Liberty and the Law 119
   4.3. "The Defect of Better Motives" 125
   4.4. "Nonsense upon Stilts" 134
   4.5. Market Freedom 141

5. Republicanism in Eclipse 147
   5.1. Democratization and Industrialization 147
   5.2. Majority Rule and Majority Tyranny 150
   5.3. Wage Labor and Wage Slavery 159
   5.4. The Market versus the State 166
   5.5. Self-Realization and Self-Rule 174

Conclusion: Markets and the New Republicanism 181

Index 199