- §1. - Historical background .................................................... 131
- §2. - Article 3 (2) first part (agreements/concerted practices) ........... 133
  - A. - Scope of the provision .................................................... 133
TABLE OF CONTENTS

§3. — A proposal for reform .......................................................... 174

SECTION 4. — DO NCAS HAVE A VETO ON THE APPLICATION OF ARTICLE 11(6)? .......................... 177
§1. — Scope of the provision ......................................................... 177
§2. — Is article 11(6) a useful tool and does it work properly? ............. 180
§3. — Proposals to improve article 11(6) second part .......................... 181
   A. — Recognition of a right of veto to NCAs .................................. 181
   B. — Reinforcement of the role of the Commission .......................... 182

SECTION 5. — ARE NEGATIVE CLEARANCE/EXEMPTION DECISIONS ISSUED BY NCAS WHEN APPLYING ARTICLES 81/82 EC STILL POSSIBLE UNDER NATIONAL LAW .................................................. 185
§1. — Individual authorisations under Regulation 1 ............................ 185
§2. — The practice of some NCAs ................................................ 187
§3. — Proposal .............................................................................. 190

SUMMARY OF THE PROPOSALS FOR REFORM ........................................... 193

CHAPTER 3

Enforcement by the Commission the decisional and enforcement structure in antitrust cases and the Commission's fining system

PRELIMINARY REMARKS ...................................................................... 199

SECTION 1. — THE PRACTICAL PROBLEMS RESULTING FROM THE CURRENT ENFORCEMENT STRUCTURE .......................................................... 201
§1. — The Commission's power of investigation, prosecution, decision and punishment .............................................................. 202
§2. — The Commission has multiple roles that can conflict with one another .......................................................... 205
§3. — Possible types of bias .................................................................. 207
§4. — Measures taken to avoid prosecutorial bias ............................... 209

SECTION 2. — THE LEGAL PROBLEMS FLOWING FROM THE "CRIMINALISATION" OF COMPETITION LAW .............................................. 211
§1. — Sanctions imposed by the Commission in competition proceedings are "criminal charges" within the meaning of article 6 ECHR ...................................................... 211
§2. - The legal consequences of a criminal "charge classification" for a proper enforcement procedure

A. - Determination of the charge by an independent and impartial tribunal at first instance

B. - The hearing of the parties must be public

C. - The hearing must be held before the persons actually adjudicating the case

D. - The right to a "full jurisdictional review" by the Community courts

§3. - The legal consequences of a "criminal charge" classification as regards the fines and other sanctions imposed

A. - Compliance with article 7 of the ECHR: principles of legal certainty, foreseeability and non-retroactivity

1. Legal certainty and foreseeability

2. Principle of non-retroactivity

B. - Issues relating to liability

1. Liability of the undertaking for its employees' behaviour

2. Liability of the parent entity of the group for its subsidiaries

C. - Issues relating to the leniency notice

§4. - Conclusions

SECTION 3. - THE WAY FORWARD AS REGARDS THE ENFORCEMENT SYSTEM

§1. - Separation of decisional power from prosecutorial power (or at least giving the court the power to "remake" the Commission's decision)

A. - Creation of an independent European Competition Agency (ECA)

1. Introduction

2. Model 1

3. Model 1a

4. Model 1b

5. Model 2

6. Model 2a

7. Model 2b

8. Model 3

9. Conclusion

B. - Giving the Community courts power of full jurisdictional review

1. Legal basis

2. Creation of a separate judicial panel
TABLE OF CONTENTS

3. More extensive judicial review but without a power to "remake" the decision ................................................................. 252

C. – Establishment of a specialised chamber within the CFI or a judicial panel exercising the effective adjudicative function in competition cases ................................................................. 254

D. – Conclusion ........................................................................ 256

§2. – Other "less ambitious" reforms that could be envisaged in order to improve the enforcement system ................................................................. 256

A. – Separation within DG Competition itself of the prosecution function from the adjudication of the case ................................................................. 257

B. – Formalisation and improvement of the working of peer review panels system ........................................................................ 257

C. – Increased role for the Hearing Officer ........................................ 259

D. – Increased role for the Legal Service and the Chief Competition Economist ........................................................................ 263

E. – Improved procedure with increased respect for the rights of defence ........................................................................ 263

1. Statement of Objections ................................................................ 264

2. Cross-examinations ..................................................................... 266

3. Time limits .................................................................................. 267

4. Public hearings ............................................................................ 269

5. Clarifying the status of all contacts between the Commission and the parties ................................................................. 270

SECTION 4. – The way forward as regards the system of sanctions . 271

§1. – Introduction of detailed principles on the setting of fines in Regulation 1 ........................................................................ 271

§2. – Clarification of the principles governing liability for competition law infringements ................................................................. 272

A. – Company liability for employees and consideration of compliance efforts of an undertaking ................................................................. 272

B. – Parent liability for subsidiaries .................................................. 274

§3. – Modification of the legal framework and implementation of the leniency programme ................................................................. 274

SECTION 5. – Conclusions ............................................................... 275

Report on the enforcement
by NCAs and the ECN

PRELIMINARY REMARKS .......................................................... 289

SECTION 1. — INSTITUTIONAL ISSUES ........................................... 293
§1. — Composition of the ECN .................................................. 293
§2. — Transparency of the ECN ............................................... 294
§3. — The ECN and the powers of the NCAs .............................. 296

SECTION 2. — CASE ALLOCATION AND CONSULTATIONS PURSUANT TO ARTICLES 11 AND 13 OF REGULATION 1 ..................................... 298
§1. — The issue of parallel proceedings and decisions ................. 299
   A. — Parallel proceedings against the same infringement are inefficient ............................................. 299
   B. — NCAs ought to be empowered to impose sanctions that are sufficiently effective to bring an infringement to an end for the whole Community .................................................. 301
   C. — Parallel decisions by members of the ECN regarding the same infringement are contrary to the “ne bis in idem” principle ................................................................. 304
      1. Parallel prosecution by NCAs under Articles 81 and 82 EC .................................................. 305
      2. Decision by the Commission and subsequent decision by an NCA based on national law .......................... 306
§2. — Case allocation ............................................................. 307
   A. — Information on and judicial review of case allocation .......... 307
   B. — Allocation rules should be made binding ......................... 309
§3. — Due process: transparency and the principle of equality of arms .................................................. 310

SECTION 3. — CIRCULATION OF INFORMATION UNDER ARTICLE 12 AND MUTUAL ASSISTANCE UNDER ARTICLE 22 OF REGULATION 1 .......... 312
§1. — Ensuring the protection of private parties in cross-border investigations ............................................. 314
   A. — The problem: the coexistence of different due process standards .................................................. 314
   B. — The unsatisfactory solutions currently offered by Regulation 1 and the ECN Notice .................................. 316
   C. — Achieving a balance between effective enforcement and due process ............................................. 318
   D. — Specific protection for leniency applicants and individuals .................................................. 324
TABLE OF CONTENTS

1. Coordination of leniency applications ........................................... 324

2. Strengthening the protection of individuals .................................... 326

§2. – Cooperation among NCAs pursuant to Article 22 of the regulation 1. 327

Conclusion................................................................. 328

CHAPTER 9
A critical view on chapter 3 —
The compatibility of the Commission’s role in competition procedures with the fundamental rights:
a real pressing legal problem or just a question of opportunity?

SECTION 1. — PROCEDURAL ISSUE OF THE COMPATIBILITY OF THE COMMISSION’S ROLE WITH FUNDAMENTAL RIGHTS

§1. — The chapter 3’s criticism

§2. — Assessment of the criticism in light of the case-law of the ECtHR and the community courts.
   A. — Characterisation of EC competition law (fines) as criminal
      (Section II of the Chapter 3)
   1. The relevant case-law of the ECtHR.
   2. Qualification of EC Competition procedures.
   B. — Consequences of the possible qualification as criminal sanction on the procedure
      1. Consequences for the procedure as a whole
      2. Consequences for the procedure followed by the Commission
      3. Consequences for Community courts
   C. — Community courts’ case-law on the compatibility

SECTION 2. — ECONOMIC IMPLICATIONS

SECTION 3. — PROCEDURAL PROPOSALS FOR CHANGE MADE BY THE AUTHORS OF THE CHAPTER 3

§1. — Proposals for fundamental changes
   A. — European Competition Agency (ECA)
   B. — Give fuller jurisdiction to courts, combined with creation of judicial panel
   C. — Give adjudicative power to courts combined with the creation of a judicial panel

§2. — Other "less ambitious" proposals
   A. — To formalise and improve the work of the peer review panels
   B. — To increase the role of the Hearing Officer
