THE BURMA DELTA

Economic Development and Social Change on an Asian Rice Frontier, 1852–1941

Michael Adas
CONTENTS

List of Maps, ix
List of Tables, xi
Preface to the 2011 Edition, xiii
Acknowledgments, xxi
Citation of Selected Government Reports, xxiii
Introduction, 3

I. THE FOUNDATIONS OF SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

1 The Delta Rice Frontier under Konbaung and Early British Rule, 15

II. THE EARLY PHASE OF GROWTH, 1852–1907

2 Internal Migration in the Last Half of the Nineteenth Century, 41
3 Agrarian Development on the Advancing Rice Frontier, 58
4 Indian Immigration to Lower Burma in the First Phase of Development, 83
5 The Genesis of the Plural Society in Lower Burma: The Era of Symbiosis, 103
Contents

III. THE DECADES OF TRANSITION, 1908–30

6  The Closing Rice Frontier and New Patterns of Agrarian Development, 127

7  Changing Migration Patterns and the Rise of Competition in the Mature Plural Society, 154

IV. THE YEARS OF SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC CRISSES, 1931–41

8  The Depression and Burma’s Time of Troubles: Communal Violence and Agrarian Rebellion, 185

Conclusion, 209
Glossary, 227
Appendix, 231
Bibliography, 235
Index, 253