Contents

- Acknowledgements xi
- List of abbreviations xiii

1 Introduction 1
   - Contextualizing post-communist transition 3
   - Methodological considerations 5
   - Argument of the book 7
   - Plan of the book 8

2 Theorizing the international political economy of post-communist transition 12
   - Contextualizing transition in a changing global political economy 14
   - What is post-communist transition? 17
   - Orthodox approaches to the political economy of transition 23
   - Towards a critical international political economy of post-communist transition 31
   - Summary 35

3 Towards passive revolution: the making of modern Eastern Central Europe 37
   - The development of under-development in Eastern Central Europe 39
   - Hegemony and social forces under state socialist development 44
   - Debt and reintegration to the global political economy 48
   - Crisis and communist-led reforms 52
   - Summary 56

4 The emergence of neoliberal social forces in the struggle for hegemony 59
   - From Catholic labour organization to neoliberal orientation: pre-transition connections to transnational social forces 61
   - The emergence of social forces for neoliberalism 67
Contents

A first wave of neoliberalism: the Sachs–Balcerowicz Plan  72
Configuring the 'winners' of transition: privatization and FDI  74
Summary  78

5 From Shock Therapy to Europeanization: neoliberalization through depoliticization  80
Securing neoliberal hegemony after Balcerowicz  82
Reconfiguring the Eastern Central European political economy  86
Depoliticization through Europeanization in post-communist transition  89
Post-communist transition and the promotion of a global agenda for neoliberal competitiveness  95
Summary  100

6 Counter-hegemonic social forces in post-communist transition  102
Contextualizing populism: the social impact of neoliberalization  104
From communist dissidence to neoliberal conformism  109
The social implications of neoliberalism and the emergence of populist resistance  113
Resisting neoliberalization: what's left for the left?  120
Summary  123

7 Conclusion: Beyond transition? Beyond the transnational?  125
Summary of the book  125
Beyond post-communist transition?  129
Beyond the transnational?  131

Notes  133
Bibliography  145
Index  172