Family Enterprise in the Asia Pacific
Exploring Transgenerational Entrepreneurship in Family Firms

Edited by
Kevin Au
The Chinese University of Hong Kong

Justin B. Craig
Bond University, Australia

Kavil Ramachandran
Indian School of Business, India

IN ASSOCIATION WITH THE GLOBAL STEP PROJECT

Edward Elgar
Cheltenham, UK • Northampton, MA, USA
Contents

Preface by Jess H. Chua vii
Acknowledgments x
List of Contributors xii

1 Introduction 1
Kevin Au, Justin B. Craig and Kavil Ramachandran

2 The Mok family of Hong Kong: incubating the next generation of entrepreneurs 21
Kevin Au

3 Lee Kum Kee Corp. Ltd (HK): 120 years and going strong 40
Xinchun Li, Hang Zhu, Wenting Chen and Mimi Fu

4 The Sun family (Dawu Group): passing the helm to the wise 60
Bing Ren, Bin Yang and Ya Li

5 Menshy Battery’s Chen family: an overseas educated generation turns to export 76
Weiwen Li, Yuan Lu, Danming Lin and Kevin Au

6 The Han family: the next generation forges a new path for the Jong-Shyn Shipbuilding Company 93
Hsi-Mei Chung, Kuang S. Yeh and Shyh-Jer Chen

7 The Deague family: learning entrepreneurship through osmosis 111
Justin Craig, Wayne Irava and Ken Moores

8 The Belcher family gain legitimacy in a new industry: sailing into the unknown 124
Justin Craig, Wayne Irava and Ken Moores

9 Incremental entrepreneurship: best practice professionalization across generations 137
Mervyn Morris

10 Twin brothers in arms learn the family business 150
Justin Craig, Wayne Irava and Ken Moores

11 GMR Group: a case of serial entrepreneurship 164
Kavil Ramachandran, John Ward, Sachin Waiker and Rachna Jha
12 The Shakti Group: keeping the entrepreneurial spirit alive in the second generation 182
Kavil Ramachandran

Index 191