Introduction to Economic Geography

Globalization, Uneven Development and Place

2nd edition

Danny MacKinnon and Andrew Cumbers
Brief contents

List of figures
List of tables
Preface to second edition
Publisher's acknowledgements

Part 1 FOUNDACTIONS

1. Introducing economic geography
2. Approaches to economic geography
3. Shaping the capitalist economy: key actors and processes
4. Spaces of production and consumption

Part 2 KEY ACTORS AND PROCESSES

5. The state and the economy
6. The changing geography of the multinational corporations
7. Changing geographies of work and employment
8. Geographies of development

Part 3 CONTEMPORARY ISSUES IN ECONOMIC GEOGRAPHY

9. The uneven geographies of finance
10. Commodity chains and global production networks
11. Knowledge, creativity, and regional development
12. Alternative economic geographies
13. Conclusion

Glossary
References
Index
Contents

List of figures x
List of tables xii
Preface to the second edition xiv
Publisher’s acknowledgements xv

Part 1 FOUNDATIONS

1 Introducing economic geography 1
  1.1 Introduction 1
  1.2 Key themes: globalization, uneven development and place 2
  1.3 The economy and economic geography 11
  1.4 A political economy approach 14
  1.5 Outline of the book 18

2 Approaches to economic geography 21
  2.1 Introduction 22
  2.2 Traditional economic geography 22
  2.3 Spatial analysis in economic geography 25
  2.4 The political economy approach in economic geography 28
  2.5 Cultural and institutional approaches in economic geography 34
  2.6 Summary 40

3 Shaping the capitalist economy: key actors and processes 42
  3.1 Introduction 43
  3.2 Capital 43
  3.3 The labour process 51
  3.4 Consumers and consumption 56
  3.5 The state 61
  3.6 Summary 63

4 Spaces of production and consumption 66
  4.1 Introduction 66
  4.2 The Industrial Revolution and the geographical expansion of capitalism 67
Contents

4.3 The rise and fall of industrial regions
4.4 Spaces of consumption
4.5 Summary

Part 2 KEY ACTORS AND PROCESSES

5  The state and the economy
5.1 Introduction
5.2 Understanding the ‘qualitative state’
5.3 The Keynesian welfare state
5.4 The developmental state
5.5 Reinventing the state: neoliberalism, globalization and state restructuring since 1980
5.6 Summary

6  The changing geography of the multinational corporations
6.1 Introduction
6.2 The changing geography of FDI
6.3 Understanding the emergence and development of the MNCs
6.4 How global are they?
6.5 The internationalization of services
6.6 The impact of MNCs on host regions
6.7 Summary

7  Changing geographies of work and employment
7.1 Introduction
7.2 Conceptualizing work and employment
7.3 Changing forms of employment
7.4 A crisis of trade unionism?
7.5 New labour geographies
7.6 Summary

8  Geographies of development
8.1 Introduction
8.2 The programme of development
8.3 Theories of development
8.4 Patterns of development
8.5 Resisting development: the growth of local social movements in developing countries
8.6 Current development issues and challenges
8.7 Summary
Part 3 CONTEMPORARY ISSUES IN ECONOMIC GEOGRAPHY

9 The uneven geographies of finance 203
   9.1 Introduction 203
   9.2 The role of money 204
   9.3 The changing geographies of money 206
   9.4 Financial crises and cycles 213
   9.5 The 2007–08 financial crisis and global recession 215
   9.6 Summary 220

10 Commodity chains and global production networks 222
   10.1 Introduction 222
   10.2 The commodity chain approach 223
   10.3 Global production networks 231
   10.4 Globalizing regional development 237
   10.5 Summary 241

11 Knowledge, creativity and regional development 244
   11.1 Introduction 244
   11.2 Knowledge, innovation and agglomeration 245
   11.3 The rise of the creative classes? 254
   11.4 Summary 262

12 Alternative economic geographies 264
   12.1 Introduction 264
   12.2 Capitalism and its alternatives 265
   12.3 Alternative economic spaces 270
   12.4 Alternative global norms of fairness and responsibility 278
   12.5 Summary 281

13 Conclusion 284
   13.1 Summary of key themes 284
   13.2 Globalization and uneven development after the crisis 286

Glossary 289
References 306
Index 325