PART II. MOVING THE UNITED STATES OFF THE LOW ROAD: LESSONS FROM ABROAD

7 Low Road vs. High Road: American Exceptionalism?
   A. Thirteen Potholes on the Low Road
      1. Decreasing Power of Labor Unions
      2. Relatively High Man-Days Lost in Strikes; Generally Confrontational Labor Relations at the Workplace and Beyond
      3. Low and Stagnant Wages in the Bottom Half to Two-Thirds of the Income Distribution, High Rates of Poverty, Greater Concentration of Wealth, and Inequality in Household Income
      4. Intensive Use of Low-Skilled Workers and the Least-Educated Workers in Large, Rapidly Growing Sectors
      5. Long Hours of Work
      6. A Widening Spread between High-Wage, High-Skilled Workers and the Least Educated
      7. Decreasing Job Security for Most of the Labor Force
      8. Meager Investment in the Infrastructure
      9. A Welfare State That Is Below Average in Spending (GNP Share) and, with the Exception of Public Pensions and Medicare, Is Inefficient and Ineffective
     10. Violent Crime and the Highest Incarceration Rate among 19 Rich Democracies
     11. Very High Military Spending, Which Subverts Both Social Spending and Civilian R&D
     12. Intrusive Regulation or Weak Regulation: Cycles of Deregulation and Reregulation
