Industrial policy in Mozambique

Matthias Krause
Friedrich Kaufmann

Bonn 2011
Contents

Abbreviations

Summary

1. Introduction
   - 1

2. A framework for analysis
   - 2

3. The main challenges for structural transformation
   - 3
   - 3.1 A brief overview of Mozambique’s economic history
   - 3.2 Macroeconomic development
   - 3.3 The enterprise structure, business environment and competitiveness
   - 3.4 Sector-specific opportunities and challenges
   - 3.5 Preliminary conclusions

4. Governance patterns: the background of industrial policy making
   - 4
   - 4.1 The pervasiveness of corruption and rent-seeking
   - 4.2 Single-party dominance, weak checks and balances and the rule of law
   - 4.3 Important industrial policy players

5. Industrial development strategy
   - 5
   - 5.1 The poverty reduction strategy
   - 5.2 Industrial policy strategy
   - 5.3 SME policy strategy
   - 5.4 Investment promotion strategy
   - 5.5 Strategy for improving the business climate
   - 5.6 Preliminary conclusions

6. Two case studies: the cashew industry and linkages promotion
   - 6
   - 6.1 The promotion of the cashew industry
   - 6.1.1 Specific challenges to the development of the cashew industry
   - 6.1.2 Assessment of the cashew policy and the industrial policy management
   - 6.2 The promotion of linkages between FDI and local SMEs: the MOZAL case
   - 6.2.1 Specific challenges and promotional measures
   - 6.2.2 Assessment of promotional measures and industrial policy management

7. Conclusions
   - 7