PIERRE-YVES DONZÉ

HISTORY OF THE SWISS WATCH INDUSTRY

FROM JACQUES DAVID TO NICOLAS HAYEK

TRANSLATED BY PIERRE-YVES DONZÉ AND RICHARD WATKINS

PETER LANG
Bern • Berlin • Bruxelles • Frankfurt am Main • New York • Oxford • Wien
Table of Contents

Introduction

1. The Swiss Watch Industry during the first part of the 19th century (1800–1870)
   1.1 The triumph of établissage
      An example of an établisseeur: the DuBois family of Le Locle
      Why was établissage successful?
   1.2 The technical evolution of products
      An innovation directed to the quality of products
      The hard beginnings of mechanization
   1.3 The outlets of the Swiss watch industry: the global market
   1.4 Rival nations

2. The challenge of industrialization (1870–1918)
   2.1 The shock of Philadelphia: the American competitors
   2.2 The structural modernization of Swiss watchmaking
      The emergence of the factory
      Birth of the machine tools industry
      The modernization of watchmaking schools
      Banks and the modernization of watchmaking
      The organization of trade unions
      A limited industrial concentration
   2.3 Selling: evolution of products and markets
      The beginning of mass communication
   2.4 Towards organized capitalism
      The blooming of employers' associations
      The Société Intercantonale des Industries du Jura – Chambre Suisse de l'Horlogerie
      The temptation of cartels
2.5 The Swiss watch industry during World War I 66
   The production of munitions 66
   The closure of the Russian market 68

3. The watchmaking cartel (1920–1960) 75
   3.1 The problem of chablonnage and the struggle against industrial transplantation 76
      The United States 79
      Japan 81
   3.2 The maintenance of an industrial district structure 83
   3.3 The setting up of the cartel 85
      The adoption of watchmaking agreements (1928) 85
      Setting up a trust: the creation of the ASUAG (1931) 89
      The legal intervention of the State (1934) 94
      The labor peace agreement 97
   3.4 The consequences of the cartel 99
      The maintenance of the structures 99
      The creation of the Société suisse pour l’industrie horlogère SA (SSIH) 101
      The failure of the struggle against chablonnage and the emergence of new watchmaking nations 102
   3.5 New products, new markets 105

   4.1 Decartelization 117
      Maintaining control over Swiss production 119
   4.2 The quartz revolution 120
   4.3 The origins of the “watchmaking crisis” 123
   4.4 Industrial concentration and the appearance of watch groups 128
      The first wave of mergers 129
      The birth of the Swatch Group 131
      The main watch groups in the 2000s 134
An independent firm: Rolex 135

The exception of Geneva: the evolution of luxury watch makers during the second part of the 20th century 136

4.5 The globalization of ownership and manufacturing 139
Some subcontractors coping with globalization: the case makers 140

4.6 Towards luxury 143

Conclusion 151

References 153