Yan Hao

Equitable Access to Land as a Means of Poverty Reduction in Rural China

Discussion Paper
SP I 2011–212
November 2011

Social Science Research Center Berlin (WZB)
Research Area
Education, Work, and Life Chances
Research Unit
Inequality and Social Integration
Contents

Introduction .................................................................................................................. 7

Equitable access to land in Chinese history: Ideal and reality .................................. 10

Communist efforts to promote equitable access to land: From land reform to the household contract system ......................................................................................... 12

Anti-poverty programs to supplement farmers' equitable access to land ................. 16

Conclusions .................................................................................................................. 19

References .................................................................................................................... 20