The New CFOs
How finance teams and their leaders can revolutionize modern business

Liz Mellon, David C Nagel, Robert Lippert and Nigel Slack
CONTENTS

Acknowledgements x
Foreword xii

Introduction 1

01 Becoming a custodian of value 5
The challenge 6
The traditional CFO role 9
The new CFO role 11
Develop your people too 13
The new CFO mindset 15
Summary ... and looking ahead 18

02 Strategic leadership 21
Seven things you must do well 21
Being a credible leader 24
Good communication skills 26
Influencing – not telling 29
‘Yes, and’ decision-making 31
Learn from failure 37
Derailers 38
Networking to get the broader picture 42
Summary ... and looking ahead 44

03 The finance factory 47
A process perspective 50
Finance and the process network 55
Achieving a great finance factory 56
Step 1: Get strategic objectives straight 57
Step 2: Decide how much value-adding you want to do 59
To outsource or not to outsource? 60
Contents

Step 3: Resource processes appropriately 64
Step 4: Get your hands dirty in process design 66
Step 5: Build in continuous improvement 68
Summary ... and looking ahead 71

04 Establishing and maintaining robust controls 73

What do we mean by control? 75
What stops us? 76
A model for managing control 79
Starting at the bottom – internal control 81
Level 2 – systems and processes 84
Level 3 – operational analysis and reporting – KPIs 86
Level 4 – business level reporting and monitoring 88
Level 5 – strategic planning 90
You need to develop your own control expertise 97
Summary ... and looking ahead 99

05 Deepening and spreading risk management 103

Risk management – the complement to robust controls 104
How we define risk 105
How control and risk management fit together 106
Why common risk approaches fail 108
The risk management process cycle 111
Step 1: Risk identification 113
Step 2: Risk prevention 118
Step 3: Risk mitigation 122
Step 4: Risk recovery 126
Summary ... and looking ahead 128

06 Growing value through investment 133

Defining investment 135
Issues finance needs to confront 136
The finance investment strategy 138
Strategic cost management in finance 144
The role of finance in sound investment 149
Finance and business negotiations 156
Summary ... and looking ahead 159
07 A custodian of value 161

Self-assessment 162
Twenty questions 168
Conclusion 169

Appendix: The finance spectrum 171
Index 175