CHAPTER 4  Post-Development and Alternatives to Development  68
Eunice N. Sahle

The Post-Development Turn in Development Studies: Historical Context  68
Interrogating Post-1945 Development Discourse: Post-Development Perspectives  71
The Post-Development School: Brief Notes on Critiques  82

CHAPTER 5  Gender and Development: The Struggles of Women in the Global South  86
Andrea Martinez

An Obstacle Course  86
The Emergence of the Field ‘Women, Gender, and Development’  90
Three Lessons  102

CHAPTER 6  Globalization and Development  107
Pierre Beaudet

Introduction  107
Globalization and Developing Countries  108
Another Globalization?  116
Looking Ahead  120

PART II  INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT ACTORS  125

CHAPTER 7  State of the State: Does the State Have a Role in Development?  127
Anil Hira

What Is the State? The Legacy of Colonialism  127
Defining the State’s Role in Development  130
Central Debates about the Role of the State in Economic Development  131
Governance as a Process of Democratization  137

CHAPTER 8  National Development Agencies and Bilateral Aid  143
Stephen Brown

Clarifying the Terminology  143
Overview of Aid Donors  144
Donor Motivations  147
Characteristics of Donors  150
Aid Recipients  153
Current Trends and Controversies  155

CHAPTER 9  The International Financial Institutions  159
Marcus Taylor

Overview  159
The Origins of the IMF and World Bank  160
Governance Structures 162
The Turbulent 1970s 163
The Debt Crisis, Structural Adjustment, and Conditionality 164
Beyond Structural Adjustment? 166
The World Bank, Good Governance, and Institution-Building 167
The IMF and the Asian Crisis 168
Into the New Millennium: Poverty Reduction and Country Ownership 170
A New Crisis or a New Beginning? 172

CHAPTER 10 The United Nations and Multilateral Actors in Development 175
David Sogge

The United Nations System 176
The Agencies 178
Trends and Prospects for UN Agencies 187
Multilateral Organizations Anchored in Western Governments 189
Multilateral Organizations Anchored in Non-Western Governments 191
One World, Many Regions 193

CHAPTER 11 Multinational Corporations 197
Paul Alexander Haslam

What Is a Multinational Corporation? 197
What Motivates Multinationals to Go Abroad? 200
Relationship between States and Multinationals 204
International Regulation of MNCs 207
Corporate Social Responsibility 209
MNCs, Poverty, and Development 210
The People Strike Back: Contentious Issues in the Community-MNC Relationship 211
Multinationals and Development 212

CHAPTER 12 Civil Society and Development 217
Henry Veltmeyer

Civil Society: The Itinerary of a Concept 218
Civil Society in Context 219
The Economic and Political Dynamics of Development and Civil Society 222
The Emergence of a Global Civil Society: The Political Dynamics of Anti-Globalization 223
Civil Society and Local Development 225
NGOS: Catalysts for Development or Agents of Outside Interests? 227
Development beyond Neoliberalism: Civil Society and the State 229
Globalization, the State, and Civil Society 231
PART III  ISSUES IN INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT  235

CHAPTER 13  Poverty and Exclusion: From Basic Needs to the Millennium Development Goals  237
David R. Morrison

Why Should We Be Concerned about Poverty Reduction?  238
The International Aid Regime and Poverty Reduction: A Brief History  239
Who Are the Poor? Definitions and Conceptions of Poverty  245
How the Different Approaches Frame Policy  251
Poverty and Human Rights  252
Beyond Neoliberalism: A New Approach to Poverty Reduction?  253
Key Elements of the Mehrotra-Delamonica Agenda  254

CHAPTER 14  Debt and Development  262
Joseph Hanlon

Lending to Developing Countries  263
Governments, Politics, the Cold War, and the Debt Crisis  264
The 1980s Debt Crisis  266
The South Pays to Solve the Northern Crisis  270
Two Final Questions  273

CHAPTER 15  Free Trade and Fair Trade  279
Gavin Fridell

Introduction  279
Free Trade and Fair Trade since 1945  282
The Limits of a Trade Perspective  288
The Future of International Trade  289

CHAPTER 16  Democracy  295
Cédric Jourde

Clarifying the Concepts: A Difficult Task  295
‘Waves’ of Democratization  301
Explaining Democratization: Structure or Actors? The National or International Arena?  301
After Democratic Transition: Consolidation or a Return to Authoritarian Rule?  307
The Causal Weight of Democratization in Economic and Social Development  309

CHAPTER 17  Environment and Development  313
Deborah Sick

Post–World War II Development Policies and the Environment  314
Changing Perspectives on Environment and Development  316
Sustainable Development in Practice  319
Participatory Approaches in Governance  321
Equity, Consumption, and Environmental Justice  323
The Complexity of the Development–Environment Nexus  327
CHAPTER 23 International Migration and Development 437
Khalid Koser

Contemporary International Migration 437
Development and Migration 440
Migration and Development 446
Displacement and Development 449
Internal Migration 451

CHAPTER 24 Indigenous Peoples: A Category in Development 454
Natacha Gagné

What Is Indigeneity? 454
A Short History of Indigenous Peoples' Struggle at the International Level 459
Recent Developments and Current Issues 465

CHAPTER 25 Technology, Information, and Development 473
Erwin A. Alampay

Technology and Society 473
The Information Society 476
ICTs and Society 480
The Digital Divide 482
Using ICTs for Development 485

CHAPTER 26 Culture and Development 493
Nissim Mannathukkaren

Introduction 493
What Is Culture? 495
The Cultural versus the Material 496
Culture as Domination and Culture as Resistance 499
The Cultural Turn 503

CHAPTER 27 China, Socialism, Globalization, and Development 513
Samir Amin

Introduction 513
Contrasting Legacies of the Chinese Revolution 514
The Challenges of Contemporary China 516
Concluding Thoughts: China in the Debate on Development 523

EPILOGUE The Future of Development? 526
Pierre Beaudet, Paul Alexander Haslam, and Jessica Schafer

Growth and Poverty into the Twenty-First Century 526
Emerging Approaches: Beyond the Washington Consensus 528
Emerging Actors: The Rise of the BICs 529
Emerging Issues: The Financial Crisis in the North and the South 533
New Avenues in Development Practice 534

Glossary 538
Index 548