

Public Office, Private Interests

Accountability through Income and Asset Disclosure

A companion volume to
Income and Asset Disclosure: Case Study Illustrations

Stolen Asset Recovery Initiative

The World Bank • UNODC

Contents

Foreword	ix
Preface	xi
Acknowledgments	xiii
Abbreviations	xv
Overview	1
1. Income and Asset Disclosure: An Introduction	7
1.1 Rationale for an Income and Asset Disclosure System	7
1.2 Types of Income and Asset Disclosure Systems	9
1.2.1 Conflict of Interest Systems	12
1.2.2 Illicit Enrichment Systems	14
1.2.3 Dual Objective Systems	15
1.3 Key Considerations in Designing and Implementing Income and Asset Disclosure Systems	16
2. Elements of an Income and Asset Disclosure System	23
2.1 Regulatory Frameworks	23
2.2 Institutional Arrangements	27
2.2.1 Splitting Functions across Institutions or Departments	30
2.2.2 Delegating Functions to Line Agencies	31
2.3 Scope and Coverage of the System	34
2.3.1 Who Is Required to File?	34
2.3.2 What Information Are Filers Required to Declare?	37
2.3.3 How Often Are Filers Required to Declare?	38
2.4 Institutional Capacities	40
2.4.1 Budget	40
2.4.2 Human Resources	42
2.4.3 Facilities	44
2.4.4 Technology	47
3. Implementing and Enforcing an Income and Asset Disclosure System	53
3.1 Managing Submission Compliance	53
3.2 Verifying the Content of Declarations	60
3.2.1 Whether to Verify the Content of Declarations—and How	60
3.2.2 Which Declarations to Verify—and How	62

3.2.3	What to Look for in Verifying the Content of Declarations	66
3.2.4	What to Look for in Verifying the Content of Declarations: COI Systems	67
3.2.5	What to Look for in Verifying the Content of Declarations: Illicit Enrichment Systems	67
3.3	Sanctions for IAD Violations	69
3.3.1	Interagency Coordination for Effective Enforcement of Sanctions	72
3.3.2	Broader Applications of IAD Enforcement	79
3.4	Managing Public Access to Declarations and Information on IAD System Performance	83
3.4.1	Balancing Privacy and the Public's Right to Know	84
3.4.2	Public Access in Practice	93
3.4.3	Public Access to Compliance Rates and Other Aspects of IAD System Performance	93
Appendix A. Methodology and Indicators Used for the Guide		95
	The PAM Initiative	95
	Actionable Governance Indicators (AGIs)	97
	Legislative AGIs	97
	Selection of Primary Sources	97
	Analysis of Legal Frameworks	97
	Reliability Checks	98
	Implementation AGIs	98
	Products	123
Appendix B. Tracking the Results of IAD Systems		125
	Setting Targets	125
	Measuring the Performance of the IAD System	127
	Design	128
	Capacities (Resources)	128
	Performance	128
	Immediate Impacts (Intermediate Outcomes)	128
	Challenges in Interpreting Performance Data	129
	Using Indicators for Cross-Country Comparisons	130
Appendix C. Key Characteristics of a Sample of IAD Systems		135
Appendix D. List of People and Agencies Consulted for this Volume		139
Bibliography		145
Boxes
1.1	IAD Provisions in International Anticorruption Instruments	10
1.2	What Is Conflict of Interest? OECD Guidelines for Managing Conflict of Interest in the Public Service	13

2.1	Splitting IAD Functions across Institutions or Departments: Guatemala, Argentina, and the United States	32
2.2	Delegated IAD Submission Processes in Mongolia, Argentina, and the United States	33
2.3	Addressing Storage Capacity Issues in Mongolia, Argentina, and Rwanda	45
2.4	Ensuring the Security of IAD Data Storage in Macao SAR, China; Slovenia; and Argentina	47
2.5	The Impacts of Electronic Submission Processes in Argentina	49
3.1	Argentina’s Approach to IAD Administration Procedures	70
3.2	Illicit Enrichment as a Criminal Offense	80

Figures

1.1	Trends in the Adoption of Anticorruption Legislation	8
1.2	Objectives of an IAD System: Preventing and Detecting Illicit Enrichment and Conflicts of Interest	11
2.1	Existence of IAD Legal Frameworks by World Bank Country Income Classification	25
2.2	Types of Laws as Applied to Different Categories of Filers	26
2.3	Types of Agency with Responsibility for Receiving and Managing Declarations	28
2.4	Types of Agency with Responsibility for Enforcing IAD Regulations	29
2.5	Centralized Submission System Using Paper Declarations—Example: Rwanda	30
2.6	Delegated Submission System Using Paper Declarations and Electronic Summaries—Example: Mongolia	30
2.7	Delegated Submission System Using Paper and Online Declarations—Example: Argentina	31
2.8	Coverage of IAD Legal Frameworks by World Bank Country Income Classification	35
2.9	Frequency of Filing Requirements	39
2.10	Building Capacity in Data Management	52
3.1	Core Functions of an IAD Agency	54
3.2	Communicating with Filers to Facilitate Submission Compliance	55
3.3	Procedures Involved in Submission Compliance Management	58
3.4	Data Transfer in Delegated Submission Systems Using Paper Declarations—Example: Mongolia	59
3.5	Screenshot of Argentina’s Database Search Function for the Selection of High-Risk Declarations for In-depth Verification: Comparing Changes in Assets over Time	65
3.6	Data-Mining Tools for Verification of Assets, Including Searches for Numerical and Nonnumerical Data, Indonesia	66
3.7	Sanctions Stipulated by Law for Filing Violations across World Bank Country Income Classifications	73
3.8	Sanctions Stipulated for Nonfiling by Category of Public Official	73
3.9	Sanctions for IAD Violations: Key Considerations	75