Knowledge, Desire and Power in Global Politics

Western Representations of China's Rise

Chengxin Pan

Senior Lecturer in International Relations,
Deakin University, Australia

Edward Elgar
Cheltenham, UK • Northampton, MA, USA
Contents

Preface vii

1 Introduction: knowledge, desire and power in Western representations of China's rise 1
2 Threat and opportunity: a bifocal lens 20
3 Of fears and fantasies: neocolonial desire in Western self/Other imagination 42
4 The 'China threat' and the political economy of fear 66
5 The 'China threat': a self-fulfilling prophecy 84
6 The 'China opportunity': false promises (and premises) 108
7 The international politics of disillusionment 129
8 China watching: towards reflection and dialogue 147

Notes 161
Bibliography 199
Index 235