Towards a New Development Paradigm in Twenty-First Century China
Economy, society and politics

Edited by Eric Florence and Pierre Defraigne
Contents

List of figures ........................................ ib  ix
List of tables ........................................ x
List of contributors ................................ xi
Acknowledgements .................................. xv

Introduction ......................................... 1
ERIC FLORENCE AND PIERRE DEFRAIGNE

PART I
Reorientation of the Chinese growth model .... 9

1  China's integration into the world economy: successes and new challenges .................................. 11
FRANÇOISE LEMOINE

2  The limits of the sustainability of China's growth ................................................................. 28
JEAN-CHRISTOPHE DEFRAIGNE

3  The impact of the global economic crisis on foreign direct investment: the case of China .... 49
FILIP DE BEULE AND DANIËL VAN DEN BULCKE

4  The influence of the current crisis on China's capital markets and its aftermath on portfolio investment in China ........................................... 66
DOMINIQUE YERNAUX
PART II
Recent policy shifts in the fields of labour and welfare 87

5 China’s reform of the migrant labour regime and the rural migrants’ industrial citizenship 89
YU XIAOMIN AND HU XIAOJIANG

6 The shortage of peasant workers and the dilemma facing Chinese industry 105
LIU KAIMING

7 Chinese socialist heroes: from workers to entrepreneurs 115
GILLES GUIHEUX

8 Improving the Chinese welfare state in the new millennium 127
LINDA WONG

PART III
The party-state and Chinese society: contention, accommodation and collaboration 145

9 Village governance reforms in China: paradigm shift or muddling through? 147
BJÖRN ALPERMANN

10 Recent trends in Chinese rural education: the disturbing rural–urban disparities and the measures to meet them 165
METTE HALSKOV HANSEN

11 The rise of civil society in China 179
KIN-MAN CHAN

12 New media and subjectivity in China: problematizing the public sphere 203
KEVIN LATHAM

Index 218