Moods and Markets

A New Way to Invest in Good Times and in Bad

Peter Atwater
Contents

Foreword ........................................... xix
Introduction ......................................... 1

Chapter 1 Understanding Social Mood ............... 11
  Mood Defined ..................................... 12
  Mood Versus Emotion .............................. 14
  Confidence and Our Perceptions of Certainty ....... 15
  The Continuum of Social Mood ................. 20
  Individual Versus Social Mood .................. 24
  Measuring Mood .................................. 25
  Social Mood and the Media ..................... 28
  Mood Groups .................................... 31
  Final Thoughts ................................... 32

Chapter 2 Horizon Preference: How Mood Affects Our Decision Making .................. 33
  The Horizon Preference Continuum ............ 35
  Logical Decision Making in Periods of Rising Social Mood ......................... 39
  Logical Decision Making in Periods of Falling Social Mood .................... 45
  Opportunities During Declining Social Mood ...... 50
  Final Thoughts .................................. 52

Chapter 3 Market Peaks and All the Red Flags They Wave ................................. 55
  The Concept Stock Bubble ....................... 56
  Big Truths ...................................... 58
  Abdication of Risk Management ................. 59
  Organizational Complexity ...................... 61
  Novice and Naive Entrants ...................... 62
  Credit, Architecture, and Other Signs of the Top .................................. 63
Chapter 7 Cooking the Books: Corporate Earnings and Social Mood ........................................ 121
Mood-Driven Accounting Principles .................................. 122
Mood-Driven Management Judgment .................................. 125
Mood-Driven “One Time” Charges .................................. 130
Final Thoughts ............................................................ 133

Chapter 8 Social Mood and the Markets Today:
So Where Are We? ...................................................... 135
Modern Day Extremes in Social Mood .................................. 139
Communication and Transportation Innovations and Peaks in Social Mood .................................. 141
2000 to 2012: Deteriorating Mood .................................. 142
Plotting Social Mood .................................................. 145
A Long-Term Perspective on Social Mood and Stock Multiples .................................. 148
Social Mood and the Evolution of Major Corporations .................................. 150
Peak Social Mood and Sovereign Debt .................................. 154
Final Thoughts ............................................................ 156

Chapter 9 Using Horizon Preference No Matter Your Long-Term View .................................. 159
Final Thoughts ............................................................ 166

Chapter 10 Final Thoughts ............................................................ 169
Bibliography ............................................................... 171
Index ................................................................. 175