Contents

Preface xvi
Acknowledgements xvii

1 Introduction 1

2 The Keynesian Revolution 4
What was it? 4
Existing explanations of the Keynesian Revolution 7

3 Economics, science and the sociology of science 12
Economics and science 12
Sociology of science: methodological frameworks 13
Kuhn on scientific revolutions 14
Lakatos's methodology of scientific research programmes 14
McCloskey's rhetoric of economics 15
Morrell and Geison's research school approach 16
Developments since Morrell and Geison 20

4 Theory success and failure: macroeconomics in the 1930s and 1940s 23
Persona 23
Reputation 38
Recruitment and discipleship 45
Institutionalisation 67
Research focus, innovation and testing 75
Funding 88
Publishing 92

5 Summary and future research 109

Notes 119
Bibliography 127
Index 144