Complexity and Institutions: Markets, Norms and Corporations

Edited by:

Masahiko Aoki
Stanford University, USA

Ken Binmore
University College London, UK

Simon Deakin
University of Cambridge, UK

Herbert Gintis
Santa Fe Institute USA and Central European University, Hungary
Contents

List of Tables vii
List of Figures viii
Notes on Contributors x
Foreword xii

Introduction 1
Masahiko Aoki, Ken Binmore, Simon Deakin and Herbert Gintis

Part I Theory and Empirical Reality

1 Theory and Reality in Economics: Insights from Three Allegories
Michihiro Kandori 11

Part II Complex Economic Dynamics: Agent-based and Analytical Models

2 The Dynamics of Pure Market Exchange
Herbert Gintis 33

3 Toward an Analytical Solution for Agent-Based Models:
An Application to a Credit Network Economy
Corrado di Guilmi, Mauro Gallegati, Simone Landini
and Joseph E. Stiglitz 63

4 The EURACE Macroeconomic Model and Simulator
Silvano Cincotti, Marco Roberto and Andrea Teglio 81

Part III Social Norms

5 Aspects of Naturalizing the Social Contract
Brian Skyrms 107

6 The Role of Salience in the Emergence and Reproduction of Norms
Robert Sugden 121
7 Fairness as an Equilibrium Selection Device 134
Ken Binmore

Part IV Corporate Governance and Organization

8 A Shapley-Value Parable of Corporations as Evolutive Systems of Associational Cognition 153
Michihiro Aoki

9 On the Plasticity of the Corporate Form 173
Katharina Pistor

10 An End to Consensus? The Selective Impact of Corporate Law Reform on Financial Development 189
Simon Deakin, Prabirkit Sarkar and Ajit Singh

11 Government Banks and Growth: Theory and Evidence 214
Svetlana Andrianova, Panicos Demetriades and Anja Shortland

Index 243