

World Bank East Asia and Pacific Regional Report

Toward Gender Equality in East Asia and the Pacific

A Companion to the *World Development Report

THE WORLD BANK
Washington, D.C.

Contents

Foreword	xiii
Acknowledgments	xv
Abbreviations	xvii
Overview	1
Why does gender equality matter for development?	3
Recent progress, pending challenges	5
Why do many gender inequalities persist?	12
Emerging opportunities and risks in an increasingly integrated world	16
Toward gender equality in East Asia and the Pacific: Directions for policy	18
Notes	27
References	28
1. The State of Gender Equality in East Asia and the Pacific	33
Why does gender equality matter for development?	36
Recent progress, pending challenges	40
Fostering new opportunities, managing emerging risks	51
Gender equality in East Asia and the Pacific: A roadmap to the report	53
Notes	55
References	55
2. Gender and Endowments: Access to Human Capital and Productive Assets	61
Substantial progress toward gender equality in education	62
Improvements and remaining gender issues in health	71
Gender equality in productive assets: An unfinished agenda	85
Policies to promote gender equality in endowments	93
Notes	94
References	95

3. Gender and Economic Opportunity	103
Limited effects of growth on gender gaps in economic opportunity	105
Gender differences in economic activity	106
What determines gender inequality in economic opportunities?	114
Policies to promote gender equality in economic opportunity	130
Notes	133
References	135
4. Agency: Voice and Influence within the Home and in Society	145
Agency—important for gender equality and development	145
The state of women’s agency in East Asia and the Pacific	147
Explaining progress and pending challenges	158
Policy approaches to promote gender equality in agency	169
Notes	172
References	173
5. Gender and the Region’s Emerging Development Challenges	179
Globalization	180
Migration	185
Urbanization	191
Aging populations	195
Information and communication technologies	199
Notes	203
References	206
6. Promoting Gender Equality in East Asia and the Pacific: Directions for Policy	213
Promoting gender equality in human development	215
Taking active measures to promote gender equality in economic opportunity	221
Taking measures to strengthen women’s voice and influence	234
Fostering new opportunities, managing emerging risks	238
Filling knowledge gaps	240
Notes	241
References	243

Boxes

1.1	Defining and measuring gender equality	37
1.2	Defining and measuring agency: Women’s voice, influence, and participation	48
2.1	Various parts of the world experience reverse gender gaps in education	64
2.2	Recent improvement in the sex ratio at birth in the Republic of Korea	82
3.1	Is higher female labor force participation always a good thing?	107
3.2	Gender-related beliefs on appropriate employment in Fiji, Papua New Guinea, Indonesia, and Vietnam	130
4.1	Gender and land tenure in a plural legal environment: The case of the Solomon Islands	166
4.2	Strengthening state mechanisms for gender equality	168
6.1	Reducing maternal mortality rates through improved staffing and quality of service delivery	217
6.2	The design of infrastructure projects has important gender dimensions	223
6.3	Leveling the playing field in access to resources: Lessons from Papua New Guinea and Mongolia	227