Sayyid Abul A‘lā Mawdūdī

FIRST PRINCIPLES OF ISLAMIC ECONOMICS

Edited by Khurshid Ahmad

Translated by Ahmad Imam Shafaq Hashemi

THE ISLAMIC FOUNDATION
Contents

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Transliteration Table</td>
<td>xii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Foreword</td>
<td>xiii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Translator’s Note</td>
<td>xxxvi</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Author’s Preface</td>
<td>xxxviii</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Introduction</td>
<td>xxxix</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

PART ONE

THE ISLAMIC CONCEPT OF ECONOMIC WELL-BEING

1. Mankind’s Economic Problems and Their Islamic Solutions 3
   1.1. The problem of a partial approach 4
   1.2. The real issue 7
   1.3. The root cause of economic mismanagement 9
   1.4. Self-aggrandizement and luxuries 9
   1.5. Capital worship 11
   1.6. The element of antagonistic competition 12
   1.7. Cartels and monopolies 13
   1.8. The recipe of communism 15
      1.8.1. The super capitalist 15
      1.8.2. An exploitative system 15
      1.8.3. Slaughter of the self 16
   1.9. The fascist solution 17
   1.10. The Islamic solution 17
      1.10.1. Basic rules 17
      1.10.2. Earning money 18
      1.10.3. Ownership rights 19
         1.10.3.1. Rule for spending money 19
         1.10.3.2. Eliminating the capitalist trend 19
         1.10.3.3. Circulation of wealth and social security 20
   1.11. Points to ponder 22
2. Economic Teachings of the Qur’ān

2.1. Fundamental truths 24
2.2. Parameters of permissible and impermissible 25
2.3. Parameters of private ownership 26
2.4. Irrational concept of economic parity 30
2.5. Monasticism or moderation and balance 33
2.6. Distinction between Ḥalāl and Ḥarām means of livelihood 34
2.7. Forbidden means of livelihood 35
2.8. Prohibition of stinginess and hoarding 38
2.9. Lust for money and greediness 39
2.10. Unchecked spending 39
2.11. Correct way of spending money 41
2.12. Reparation for sinful transgressions 43
2.13. Preconditions for the Divine Acceptability of charity 43
2.14. Charity in the Way of Allah 45
2.15. Collection and distribution of Zakāh 48
2.16. One-fifth of revenue from war gains 49
2.17. Disbursement of Zakāh funds 50
2.18. Division of inheritance 50
2.19. The will 52
2.20. Rights of those of weaker understanding 52
2.21. Safeguarding public interest in state holdings 53
2.22. Guiding principle about taxation 57
2.23. Salient features of Islamic economics – a resume 57
2.24. Index of source material 60

3. The Differences between Islam and Capitalism 61

3.1. Distinction between lawful and forbidden means of livelihood 61
3.1.1. Bribery and embezzlement 62
3.1.2. Breach of trust and misappropriation of funds, public or private 62
3.1.3. Theft and burglary 63
3.1.4. Mishandling of the orphan's property 63
3.1.5. Fraudulent transactions/disregard of weights and measures 63
3.1.6. Trading in immorality and all means of obscenity and promiscuousness 64
3.1.7. Income generated through the sex trade, brothels, adultery or fornication 64
3.1.8. The production, sale, transportation and marketing of alcoholic beverages

3.1.9. Gambling, betting, lottery and all means of income based not on one's labour but on chance

3.1.10. Idol-making trading in idols and serving in temples

3.1.11. Fortune-telling and soothsaying

3.1.12. Usury and all forms of interest-based transactions

3.2. The accumulation of wealth

3.3. Money is to spend

3.4. Zakāh

3.5. Law of inheritance

3.6. War gains and division of the conquered land's revenue

3.7. Injunctions about economy and balance

4. The Economic Philosophy of Islam

4.1. Basic values of the economic philosophy of Islam

4.1.1. Social justice

4.1.2. Equitable economic system

4.1.3. People-friendly political system

4.1.4. Equality of opportunity

4.2. Eight fundamental principles of the economic philosophy of Islam

4.2.1. First principle: General accessibility of the bounties of nature

4.2.2. Second principle: The right to make a living

4.2.3. Third principle: The right to ownership

4.2.4. Fourth principle: The spirit of healthy competition

4.2.5. Fifth principle: No artificial way to enforce equality

4.2.6. Sixth principle: No 'free economy'

4.2.7. Seventh principle: Duties obligatory upon individuals

4.2.8. Eighth principle: Duties obligatory upon society

5. The Principles and Objectives of Islam's Economic System

5.1. Basics of the Islamic economic system

5.2. The objectives of Islamic economics

5.2.1. Personal freedom

5.2.2. Harmony in moral and material progress

5.2.3. Promotion of cooperation, harmony and justice
5.3. Basic principles of Islam's economic system
5.3.1. Parameters of private ownership
5.3.2. Equitable distribution of wealth
5.3.3. Social obligations
5.3.4. Zakāh
5.3.5. Law of inheritance

5.4. Position of labour, capital, and organization
5.5. Zakāh and social welfare
5.6. Interest-free economy
5.7. Interrelationship between economic, political and social systems

6. Some Principles of Economic Life
6.1. Basic values of Islamic society
6.2. The Islamic path of moral and economic rejuvenation
6.3. The concept of earning and spending
6.4. Principles of spending
6.5. Principles of moderation and balance
6.6. Economic honesty and justice
6.7. Distributive justice

PART TWO
THE ECONOMIC SYSTEM OF ISLAM: SOME BASIC FEATURES

7. The Question of Land Ownership
7.1. The Holy Qur'ān and the question of private ownership
7.2. Precedents of the Holy Prophet and his Caliphs
7.2.1. First category of land
7.2.2. Second category of land
7.2.3. Third category of land
7.2.4. Fourth category of land
7.3. Ownership rights on the basis of settlement
7.4. Award of state lands
7.5. The Shari'ah perspective on the award of state lands
7.6. Feudal estates and Islamic Shari'ah
7.7. Respect for ownership rights
7.8. Islamic social order and private ownership
7.9. The question of delimitation of agricultural land
7.10. Sharecropping between landlord and farmer
7.11. Principles of property management
CONTENTS

8. The Question of Interest 144
   8.1. Islamic injunctions concerning interest 144
      8.1.1 Meaning of Ribā 144
      8.1.2. Ribā of the Days of Ignorance 146
      8.1.3. Basic difference between Ribā and Bay 146
      8.1.4. Rationale for prohibition 148
      8.1.5. Strict nature of the ban 149
   8.2. Need for interest: a rational reassessment 150
      8.2.1. Compensation for elements of risk and sacrifice 150
      8.2.2. Compensation for opportunity and grace period 154
      8.2.3. Sharing of profit 155
      8.2.4. Compensation for time 156
      8.2.5. Reasonableness of an interest rate 158
      8.2.6. Rationale for varying rates of interest? 160
   8.3. ‘Economic benefits’ of interest? 162
   8.4. Need and utility of interest? 164
   8.5. Demerits of interest 167
   8.6. Economic growth without interest 171
      8.6.1. Some misunderstood facts 171
      8.6.2. First step towards reform 174
      8.6.3. End result of a ban on interest 175
   8.7. Availability of loans in an interest-free system 177
      8.7.1. For personal needs 177
      8.7.2. For commercial purposes 179
      8.7.3. For non-productive public sector needs 180
      8.7.4. International lending 181
      8.7.5. Capital needs of profit-making projects 182
   8.8. Islamic modes of banking 184
   8.9. Economic and industrial loans from non-Muslim countries 187

9. Zakāh in Theory and Practice 189
   9.1. Essence of Zakāh 189
      9.1.1. Meaning 189
      9.1.2. Apostolic tradition 189
   9.2. Zakāh’s place in social life 192
   9.3. The Divine Command concerning Zakāh 197
   9.4. Various categories of Zakāh distribution 199
      9.4.1. Al-Fuqarā 199
      9.4.2. Al-Masākin 200
9.4.3. Al-‘Āmilin

9.4.4. Mu’allafat‘l-Qulūb or ‘those whose hearts are to be reconciled’

9.4.5. Fi’l-Riqāb or ‘to free those in bondage’

9.4.6. Al-Ghārimon or ‘those burdened with debt’

9.4.7. Fi-Sabilillāh or ‘in the Way of Allah’

9.4.8. Ibn al-Sabil or ‘the Wayfarer’

9.5. Basic rules of Zakāh

9.6. Is any change possible in Nisab and the rate of Zakāh’s deduction?

9.7. Company shares and Zakāh

9.8. Zakāh’s applicability in Mushārakah and Mudārabah

9.9. Prescribed minimum limit for Kunūz (gold and silver)

9.10. The difference between Zakāh and tax

9.11. Is it permissible to levy income tax over and above Zakāh?

10. Islam and Social Justice

10.1. Falsehood in the garb of truth

10.1.1. Deception One: capitalism and secular democracy

10.1.2. Deception Two: social justice and communism

10.1.3. The modern Muslim’s intellectual servility

10.2. Social justice in theory and practice

10.2.1. Islam alone guarantees social justice

10.2.2. Social justice: the goal before Islam

10.2.3. Growth and development of the human personality

10.2.4. Personal accountability

10.2.5. Individual freedom

10.2.6. Social institutions and their writ

10.3. Failings of capitalism and communism

10.4. Communism: the worst form of social oppression

10.5. Justice in Islam

10.5.1. Parameters of personal freedom

10.5.2. Preconditions for the transfer of wealth

10.5.3. Restrictions on the use of wealth

10.5.4. In service of the society

10.5.5. Eradication of injustice

10.5.6. Nationalization and public interest

10.5.7. Use of the public treasury (Bayt al-Māl)

10.5.8. The basic issue!