The Profit Motive in Education: Continuing the Revolution

EDITED BY JAMES B. STANFIELD

A 263738

iea
The Institute of Economic Affairs
CONTENTS

The authors 9
Foreword 14
Summary 22
List of tables and figures 25

PART 1: BASIC CONCEPTS

1 Introduction 29

James B. Stanfield

Questioning the anti-profit mentality 29
Things seen and not seen in education 34
Policy lessons 38
Four simple policy proposals 41
A vision of the liberal ideal of education 45
References 49

2 Profit is about learning, not just motivation 51

Steven Horwitz

The distinction between intentions and results 52
Ignoring the difficult questions 53
The absence of prices and profits 55
More than just a motive 57
PART 2: LESSONS FROM THE UK AND ABROAD

3 Setting up a free school
Toby Young
Sponsored by a group of parents and teachers
Outsourcing the day-to-day operation of the school
Leasing a site
Conclusion

4 The profit motive in Swedish education
Peje Emilsson
The one-size-fits-all monolithic system
The Swedish voucher system
Kunskapsskolan – a modern alternative
The new Swedish model

5 The story of a school entrepreneur
Barbara Bergstrom
Setting up a new school
The right to make a profit
Parents as prime movers
Quality creates profits

6 The fortune at the bottom of the education pyramid
James B. Stanfield
C. K. Prahalad and the bottom of the pyramid
Emerging chains of budget private schools
Developing ecosystems for wealth creation in education
The United Nations and the profit motive in education
Lessons for the UK
7 For-profit higher education in the United States
Daniel L. Bennett, Adam R. Lucchesi and Richard K. Vedder
Growth of for-profit higher education
For-profit institutions are subject to significant political risk
Success of for-profit higher education
Lessons for the UK
References

PART 3: NEW MODELS OF EDUCATION
8 Why is there no IKEA in education?
Anders Hultin
Three key approaches
Deregulation and the philanthropic model
Great schools and how to make them
Arguments against a market model
The profit motive and academic results
Courage of convictions or compromise?

9 UK business schools need an injection of the profit motive
J. R. Shackleton
Introduction
What is wrong?
The early development of university-based business schools
Developments since the 1980s
10 Customised schooling and entrepreneurship in the USA 180
Frederick M. Hess
The problem with the 'whole school' assumption 180
What does 'unbundling' mean? 181
Technology and the rise of virtual schooling 182
Creating an entrepreneurial environment 183
Five essential principles 185
Nothing ventured, nothing gained 187
Conclusion 189
References 190

11 Private capital, for-profit enterprises and public education 191
Tom Vander Ark
Batch-print to personal digital learning services 192
New openings for private capital 194
The innovation agenda 198
The for-profit advantage 199
Combining philanthropy and profit-seeking investment 201
The backlash and beyond 201

About the IEA 204