New Frontiers in Work and Family Research

Edited by
Joseph G. Grzywacz and Evangelia Demerouti
List of illustrations vii
List of tables and boxes ix
Preface xi
Acknowledgements xix

1 Using a positive organizational scholarship lens to enrich research on work–family relationships
GRETCHEN M. SPREITZER 1

2 A systems perspective on work and family
SHELLEY MACDERMID WADSWORTH AND LEAH HIBEL 18

3 A closer look at key concepts of the work–nonwork interface
EVANGELIA DEMEROUTI, INÉS MARTÍNEZ CORTS AND MARINA BOZ 34

4 The spillover–crossover model
ARNOLD B. BAKKER AND EVANGELIA DEMEROUTI 54

5 Not always a sweet home: Family and job responsibilities constrain recovery processes
SABINE SONNENTAG AND INES BRAUN 71

6 Consequences of combining work and family roles: A closer look at cross-domain versus within-domain relations
MARIA C.W. PEETERS, LIEKE L. TEN BRUMMELHUIS AND ELIANNE F. VAN STEENBERGEN 93

7 A primer on sampling
JOSEPH G. GRZYWACZ, DAWN S. CARLSON AND BETH A. REBOUSSIN 110
Contents

8 Experience sampling methods for work–family research: A review and research agenda
ADAM BUTLER, ZHAOLI SONG AND REMUS ILIES 133

9 Chains of events in work–family research
FABIENNE T. AMSTAD AND NORBERT K. SEMMER 150

10 Biomarkers in work and family research
ORFEU MARCELLO BUXTON, LAURA COUSINO KLEIN, JULIA WHINNERY, SHARON WILLIAMS AND THOMAS MCDADE 170

11 Using direct observational methods to study the real lives of families: Advantages, complexities, and conceptual and practical considerations
RENA L. REPETTI, SHU-WEN WANG AND MEREDITH S. SEARS 191

Index 211