Contents

List of figures
List of tables
Notes on contributors
Preface
Abbreviations

PART I
Introduction
1 Europe’s changing regional geography: the impact of inter-regional networks
   NICOLA BELLINI AND ULRICH HILPERT

PART II
New challenges and new patterns of collaboration
2 European macro-regions as a new dimension of European geography: networks of collaboration in the light of culture, history and language capabilities
   ALEXANDER NAGLER

PART III
Europe’s new regionalization: the integration of regional activities through macro-regions
3 The Baltic Sea region: who cooperates with whom, and why?
   CARSTEN SCHYMIK
4 Towards a ‘wide area cooperation’: the economic rationale and political feasibility of the Adriatic Euroregion
   ALBERTO BRAMANTI AND PAOLO ROSSO
5 A typology of agents and subjects of regional cooperation: the experience of the Mediterranean Arc 101

ANTONI DURÀ-GUIMERÀ AND XAVIER OLIVERAS-GONZÁLEZ

PART IV
Europe’s re-regionalization across borders 125

6 Transnational infrastructure projects and their impact on region-building in the southwestern Baltic Sea region 127

MAGDALENA SCHÖNWEITZ

7 Incentives and obstacles to cross-border cooperation in post-communist central Europe 145

GERGŐ MEDVE-BÁLINT

8 The Pyrenees-Mediterranean Euroregion: functional networks, actor perceptions and expectations 171

FRANCESC MORATA AND ANDREA NOFERINI

PART V
Conclusions 191

9 Europe’s changing geography in perspective 193

NICOLA BELLINI AND ULRICH HILPERT

Index 203