Entrepreneurship and Growth
An International Historical Perspective

Edited by
Gabriel Tortella
Universidad de Alcalá, Spain

and

Gloria Quiroga
Universidad Complutense de Madrid, Spain
Contents

List of Tables vii
List of Figures x
Acknowledgements xi
Notes on Contributors xii

Introduction 1
Gabriel Tortella and Gloria Quiroga

Part I A Multinational Approach

1 A Tale of Four Countries: Entrepreneurs and Entrepreneurship in England, France, Scotland, and Spain: A Comparative Approach 19
Gabriel Tortella, Gloria Quiroga, and Ignacio Moral-Arce

Part II International Experiences

2 Entrepreneurs and Businessmen in Greece during the Long Nineteenth Century 49
James Foreman-Peck and Ioanna Sapfo Pepelasis

3 Business Groups in Argentina during the Export-Led Growth Period (1870–1914) 69
Maria Inés Barbero

4 Explaining Entrepreneurial Success: Evidence from the Italian Case (Nineteenth–Twentieth Centuries) 92
Pier Angelo Toninelli, Michelangelo Vasta, and Emma Zavarrone

Part III The Spanish Case

5 Some Empirical Aspects of Entrepreneurship in Twentieth-Century Spain 115
José Luis García-Ruiz and Teodosio Pérez-Amaral

6 An Approach to Entrepreneurial Success and Its Determinants: The Case of Spain 133
José M. Ortiz-Villajos and Sonia Sotoca
Part IV  Some Local Cases: Minorca and Madrid

7  Entrepreneurship and Development: The Minorcan Model (Eighteenth–Twentieth Centuries) 175
   Alfons Méndez-Vidal and Juan Hernández-Andreu

8  Did Spanish High Schools Breed Entrepreneurs? The Madrid Institutos of Cardenal Cisneros and San Isidro, 1860–1936 195
   Clara Eugenia Núñez and Begoña Moreno-Castaño

Conclusions 219
   Gabriel Tortella and Gloria Quiroga

Bibliography 225

Index 243