ESSAYS ON LIQUIDITY AND PRICES

Benjamin R. Lester

A DISSERTATION

in

ECONOMICS

Presented to the Faculties of the University of Pennsylvania in Partial Fulfillment of the Requirements for the Degree of Doctor of Philosophy

2007

Supervisor of Dissertation

Graduate Group Chairperson
Contents

1 Risk, Efficiency, and Optimality in Settlement System Design 1
1.1 Introduction ................................................. 2
1.2 Literature Review ............................................. 5
1.3 The Banking Sector ............................................ 7
  1.3.1 Notation, Definitions, and Key Concepts ............ 9
  1.3.2 The Problem of the Bank ................................. 12
  1.3.3 Bank Insolvency and the Costs of Default ........ 13
  1.3.4 The Trade-off Between Cost and Risk ............... 17
1.4 The Trading Sector ........................................... 20
  1.4.1 Transfers ................................................. 21
  1.4.2 Value Functions and Incentive Constraints .......... 22
1.5 Equilibrium and Welfare .................................... 25
1.6 Model Specification, Analysis, and Discussion ........ 27
  1.6.1 Specification of Functional Forms .................. 27
  1.6.2 Welfare and the Optimal Intra-day Credit Policy ... 30
  1.6.3 Optimality in Settlement System Design ........... 32
1.7 Conclusion .................................................. 34

2 Liquidity, Asset Prices, and Monetary Policy 36