International Investment Law: A Chinese Perspective

Guiguo Wang
Contents

Foreword ix
Preface xi
Table of Cases xiii

1 International investment and law
   I. A brief history of international investment 1
   II. Impacts of national laws on investment 6
   III. International legal regimes 15
   IV. Features of contemporary international investment law 19
      A. Cross-application of treaty and national law 19
      B. Precedential effect of previous decisions 22
      C. Emphasis on preambles 23
      D. Formation of case law 28

2 The control system pertinent to direct foreign investment 32
   I. The insurance system for foreign investment 32
      A. The national insurance system 33
      B. The multilateral insurance system 37
   II. The bilateral protection system 49
   III. The ICSID dispute settlement system 61
      A. ICSID arbitration mechanisms 62
      B. Annulment procedure under the ICSID mechanism 64

3 Determination of foreign investors 88
   I. Qualified investors as a jurisdictional issue 89
   II. Piercing the corporate veil of foreign investors 99
   III. Jus standi: indirect investors and minority shareholders 112
   IV. Denial of benefits 126
   V. China’s practice relating to investors 135
   VI. Conclusions 139
International Investment Law: A Chinese Perspective

4 Determination of foreign investments

I. Searching for a definition of investment
II. The double-barreled test and contribution to economic development for qualified investment in ICSID arbitration
III. Additional criteria for qualified investments
   A. Investments made in compliance with law and in good faith ("bona fide")
   B. Investments made "in the territory" of the host state
IV. Commercial arbitration awards and investments
V. China's treaty practice on determination of foreign investment
VI. Conclusions

5 Consent as a condition of jurisdiction

I. Determination of consent
II. Effective time of consent
III. The fork in the road
IV. Exhaustion of local remedies
V. China's treaty practice

6 The absolute standards of treatment

I. Fair and equitable treatment
   A. The concept of FET
   B. Contents of FET
II. Full protection and security
III. The umbrella clause
IV. China's practice on absolute standards of treatment

7 The relative standards of treatment

I. The history of the MFN clause and the applicable interpretation principles
   A. The history of MFN treatment
   B. Principles of interpretation
II. MFN jurisprudence relating to investment
   A. Cases supporting extension of the MFN clause to dispute resolution procedures
   B. Cases opposing extension of the MFN clause to dispute resolution procedures
III. National treatment in investment
   A. Status of NT in investment treaties
   B. Competition as a necessary condition for like circumstances
   C. Liberal interpretation of like circumstances
   D. The principle of judicial/arbitral economy
   E. Determination of less favourable treatment
IV. China's practice regarding MFN and national treatment
V. Synthesis and conclusions