THE WHY AXIS

HIDDEN MOTIVES AND THE UNDISCOVERED ECONOMICS OF EVERYDAY LIFE

URI GNEEZY
AND JOHN A. LIST

With a Preface by STEVEN D. LEVITT
co-Author, Freakonomics and SuperFreakonomics

rh BOOKS
CONTENTS

Foreword by Steven D. Levitt, coauthor of Freakonomics and SuperFreakonomics ix

INTRODUCTION
Getting Beyond Assumptions.
What Makes People Do What They Do? 1

CHAPTER 1
How Can You Get People to Do What You Want?
When Incentives (Don't) Work and Why 18

CHAPTER 2
What Can Craigslist, Mazes, and a Ball and Bucket Teach Us About Why Women Earn
Less Than Men?
On the Plains Below Kilimanjaro 32

CHAPTER 3
What Can a Matrilineal Society Teach Us
About Women and Competition?
A Visit to the Khasi 49

CHAPTER 4
How Can Sad Silver Medalists and Happy Bronze
Medalists Help Us Close the Achievement Gap?
Public Education: The $627 Billion Problem 63

CHAPTER 5
How Can Poor Kids Catch Rich Kids
in Just Months?
A Voyage to Preschool 91
CONTENTS

CHAPTER 6

What Seven Words Can End Modern Discrimination?
I Don't Really Hate You, I Just Like Money

CHAPTER 7

Be Careful What You Choose, It May Be Used Against You!
The Hidden Motives Behind Discrimination

CHAPTER 8

How Can We Save Ourselves from Ourselves?
Using Field Experiments to Inform Life and Death Situations

CHAPTER 9

What Really Makes People Give to Charity?
Don't Appeal to People's Hearts; Appeal to Their Vanity

CHAPTER 10

What Can Cleft Palates and Opt-Out Boxes Teach Us About People's Reasons for Giving to Charity?
The Remarkable Phenomenon of Reciprocity

CHAPTER 11

Why Is Today's Business Manager an Endangered Species?
Creating a Culture of Experimentation at Your Business

EPILOGUE

How to Change the World . . . or at Least Get a Better Deal
Life Is a Laboratory

Acknowledgments 245
Notes 247
Index 257