Contents

Acknowledgments xi

1 Conceptual Basis for Identifying and Measuring Occupational Labor Shortages
   Background on Labor Shortages 3
   Causes of Labor Shortages 11
   Reasons Why Occupational Labor Markets Are in Disequilibrium 14
   Adjustments to Occupational Shortages by Employers 18
   Reasons Labor Markets May Adjust Slowly 27
   Consequences of Labor Shortages 31
   Outline of the Report 32

2 Special Education Teachers
   Background and Description 35
   Training and Recruitment of Workers 38
   Worker Characteristics 45
   Employment and Earnings Trends 46
   Labor Market Factors Contributing to a Shortage 55
   Assessment of Labor Market/Shortage Conditions 65
   Responses to Labor Market Conditions 70
   Conclusions and Recommendations 78

3 Pharmacists
   Background and Description 81
   Training and Recruitment of Workers 85
   Employment and Earnings Trends 89
   Labor Market Factors Contributing to a Shortage 95
   Assessment of Labor Market/Shortage Conditions 103
   Responses to Labor Market Conditions 104
   Conclusions and Recommendations 107

4 Physical Therapists
   Background and Description 109
   Training and Recruitment of Workers 112
   Worker Characteristics 114
   Employment and Earnings Trends 118