Measuring Fiscal Decentralisation

CONCEPTS AND POLICIES

Edited by Junghun Kim, Jorgen Lotz and Hansjörg Blöchlicher
Table of contents

Foreword .................................................................................................................. 3

Summary ..................................................................................................................... 9

Chapter 1 Measuring decentralisation: The OECD fiscal decentralisation database .................................................................................................................... 15
By Hansjörg Blöchliger

Chapter 2 On grant policy and the OECD-taxonomy of grants ......................... 37
By Jorgen Lotz

Chapter 3 Measurement of decentralisation: How should we categorise tax sharing? ....................................................................................................................... 47
By Junghun Kim

Chapter 4 The role of decentralisation indicators in empirical research .......... 61
By Nobuo Akai

Chapter 5 Measuring the extent of fiscal decentralisation: An application to the United States ............................................................................................... 71
By Yongzheng Liu, Jorge Martinez-Vazquez and Andrey Timofeev

Chapter 6 Measuring decentralisation of public sector activities:
Conceptual issues and the case of Germany ......................................................... 89
By Paul Bernd Spahn

Chapter 7 Taxonomy of grants and local taxes: The Norwegian case ............. 101
By Lars-Erik Borge

Chapter 8 Measuring decentralisation: The challenge of the Danish story ...... 117
By Jens Blom-Hansen

Chapter 9 From transfers to tax “co-occupation”: The Italian reform of intergovernmental finance ...................................................................................... 127
By Ernesto Longobardi

Annex A Contributors ......................................................................................... 151

Tables

1.1. Taxonomy of taxing power ................................................................. 17
1.2. Taxing power of sub-central governments ........................................... 18
1.3. Tax autonomy of sub-central governments by type of tax ................... 20