Controlling the World Bank and IMF

Shareholders, Stakeholders, and the Politics of Concessional Lending

Liam Clegg
Lecturer in International Relations, University of York, UK
Contents

List of Figures and Tables
Preface
Acknowledgements
List of Abbreviations

1 Introduction
1.1 Locating shareholders and stakeholders at the World Bank and IMF 4
1.2 Models of control in international organisations: The rationalist pathway 5
1.3 Models of control in international organisations: The constructivist pathway 12
1.4 Integrating the rationalist and constructivist models 16
1.5 Opening the door to normative judgements on the politics of control 21
1.6 Overview of the book 26

2 Shareholder Control and the Rise of Poverty Reduction at the World Bank
2.1 Performance measurement and norm change at the World Bank 32
2.2 A brief history of the International Development Association 38
2.3 Poverty reduction as a monitoring and legitimation device 45
2.4 Filling the world with poverty indicators 54
2.5 The results agenda and the internal ‘battlefield of knowledge’ 57
Contents

3 Shareholder Conflicts and the Rise of Social Spending at the IMF 63

3.1 Money, information, and control at the IMF 65

3.2 Constructing the Fund’s balance-of-payments expertise 72

3.3 Stepping into concessional lending 76

3.4 Launching structural adjustment, exceeding the mandate? 79

3.5 Making the Fund into a long-term development partner 85

4 The World Bank and the Reconstruction of Stakeholder Engagement 93

4.1 Agents, ideas, and the entrance of stakeholders into the World Bank 95

4.2 The invisibility of stakeholders in the Bank’s early years 102

4.3 The evolution of direct stakeholder engagement in project lending 106

4.4 Policy-based lending and stakeholder control as a domestic governance tool 115

5 Apolitical Economy and the Limits to Stakeholder Engagement at the IMF 126

5.1 The exclusionary power of expertise at the IMF 128

5.2 Normalising the practice of stakeholder disengagement 133

5.3 The rise of the disciplinary stakeholder 139

5.4 Slowly expanding direct stakeholder input into operational processes 145

6 Conclusion 157

6.1 Shareholder control: Review of key findings 159

6.2 Stakeholder control: Review of key findings 163
6.3 Navigating the shareholder–stakeholder dichotomy 168
6.4 Post-crisis developments at the World Bank 172
6.5 Post-crisis developments at the IMF 174

Notes 179
Bibliography 190
Index 210