Contents

Foreword Robert A. Mundell
Participants

Introduction Harry G. Johnson and Alexander K. Swoboda

PART I THE ECONOMICS OF FIXED EXCHANGE RATES

1. Two Arguments for Fixed Rates
   Arthur B. Laffer
   Comments
   Gottfried Haberler
   Bela Balassa
2. The Flexibility of the Gold-Exchange Standard and Its Limits
   Jürg Niehans
   Thomas J. Courchene
4. The Dual Currency System Revisited
   Ronald I. McKinnon

PART II THE ECONOMICS OF COMMON CURRENCY AREAS

5. Some Early Views on Monetary Integration
   Thomas Guggenheim
6. The Theory of Optimum Regional Associations
   Herbert G. Grubel
7. Uncommon Arguments for Common Currencies
   Robert A. Mundell
8. Policy Conflict, Inconsistent Goals, and the Coordination of Economic Policies
   Alexander K. Swoboda
9. A Plan for a European Currency
   Robert A. Mundell
   Comment
   Bela Balassa
10 The Impact of External Markets for National Currencies on Central Bank Reserves 178
Robert Z. Aliber

11 Joint Balance: Capital Mobility and the Monetary System of a Currency Area 196
Sven W. Arndt

12 Optimum Currency Areas and Latin America 210
Alexandre Kafka

PART III THE ECONOMICS OF FLEXIBLE EXCHANGE RATES

13 The U.S. Balance of Payments: Freedom or Controls 221
Gottfried Haberler

14 Flexing the International Monetary System: The Case for Gliding Parities 229
Richard N. Cooper

15 Specific Proposal for Limited Exchange Rate Flexibility 244
William Fellner

16 Flexible Exchange Rates and Traded Goods Prices: The Role of Oligopoly Pricing in the Canadian Experience 259
Robert M. Dunn, Jr

17 The Optimal Rate of Devaluation 281
Ruben Almonacid
Manuel Guitian

Index 299