Introduction	xx
PART I: DATA: THE PREREQUISITE FOR MANAGING SYSTEMIC RISK	1
Data for Systemic Risk	3
H. V. Jagadish
1 Systemic Risk Information Requirements: Current Environment, Needs, and Approaches for Development	9
Edward T. Hida II
1.1 Introduction	9
1.2 Purpose	10
1.3 Overview of types of systemic risk information required	10
1.4 Overview of the financial landscape	14
1.5 Observations on the state of financial data within financial institutions	24
1.6 The challenge ahead for systemic risk information collection	28
1.7 Paths for collection of systemic risk information	30
1.8 Conclusions	32
Bibliography	36
2 Aligning Models and Data for Systemic Risk Analysis	37
Roger M. Stein
2.1 Introduction	37
2.2 Data aggregation and statistical inference: at what level of detail should data be collected?	42
2.3 Data linkage	45

2.4	Aligning data and models	51
2.5	A brief comment on confidentiality, anonymization and the role of consortia	56
2.6	Conclusion	60
	Bibliography	62
3	Applying FpML	66
	Andrew Jacobs and Marc Gratacos
3.1	Introduction	66
3.2	Inside FpML	72
3.3	Application to systemic risk	87
3.4	Conclusions	91
	Bibliography	92
4	Data Integration for Systemic Risk in the Financial System	93
	Arnon Rosenthal and Len Seligman
4.1	The systemic risk data integration challenge	93
4.2	Data integration task model	100
4.3	Standards for data exchange	102
4.4	Tools for reconciling heterogeneity	110
4.5	Research questions	115
4.6	Conclusions	120
	Bibliography	121
5	Semantics in Systemic Risk Management	123
	Mike Atkin and Mike Bennett
5.1	Dealing with semantics	125
5.2	Creating an ontology	132
5.3	Semantic technology applications	142
5.4	Operational data	144
5.5	Summary	145
5.6	The financial industry business ontology	147
5.7	FIBO and systemic risk	153
	Bibliography	158
	PART II: STATISTICS AND SYSTEMIC RISK	161
	Statistics and Systemic Risk	163
	John Liechty

6	Statistical Assessments of Systemic Risk Measures	165
	Carole Bernard, Eike Christian Brechmann and Claudia Czado
6.1	Introduction and background on systemic risk	165
6.2	CoVaR	167
6.3	Marginal Expected Shortfall	170
6.4	Other tail dependence measures	173
6.5	Conclusions & alternative systemic measure	176
	Bibliography	178
7	Regime Switching Models and Risk Measurement Tools	180
	John Liechty
7.1	Introduction	181
7.2	Using regime shifting models with historical data	182
7.3	Using forward-looking data	187
7.4	Conclusions	188
	Bibliography	189
	 PART III: MEASURING AND REGULATING SYSTEMIC RISK	 191
	Measuring and Regulating Systemic Risk	193
	Viral V. Acharya
8	Measuring Systemic Risk	196
	Viral V. Acharya, Christian Brownlees, Robert Engle, Farhang Farazmand, and Matthew Richardson
8.1	The Dodd-Frank Wall Street reform and Consumer Protection Act	198
8.2	Evaluation of the Dodd-Frank Act	203
8.3	NYU Stern systemic risk rankings	208
	Bibliography	224
9	Taxing Systemic Risk	226
	Viral V. Acharya, Lasse Pedersen, Thomas Philippon, and Matthew Richardson
9.1	Systemic risk and the financial crisis of 2007 to 2009	226
9.2	Regulating systemic risk	229
9.3	The Dodd-Frank Wall Street reforms and Consumer Protection Act of 2010	235
9.4	A tax on systemic risk	241
9.5	Summary	244
	Bibliography	244

Contents

Analyzing Systemic Risk of the European Banking Sector	247
Viral V. Acharya and Sascha Steffen
10.1 Introduction	247
10.2 Methodology – measuring systemic risk	249
10.3 Data and summary statistics	251
10.4 Measuring systemic risk of European banks	254
10.5 Responses to the financial crisis of 2007-2009	266
10.6 After the crisis is before the crisis – the sovereign debt crisis of 2010	270
10.7 Conclusion	278
Bibliography	281
PART IV: NETWORKS	283
Networks: Introduction	285
Rama Cont
Network Models and Systemic Risk Assessment	287
Helmut Elsinger, Alfred Lehar and Martin Summer
11.1 Introduction	287
11.2 A network model of interbank exposures and contagion risk	288
11.3 Estimating network exposures	291
11.4 Creating loss scenarios	294
11.5 Clearing in the interbank market	297
11.6 Empirical findings	299
11.7 Extensions	302
Bibliography	303
Strategic Interactions on Financial Networks for the Analysis of Systemic Risk	306
Ethan Cohen-Cole, Andrei Kirilenko and Eleonora Patacchini
12.1 Financial networks and systemic risk	306
12.2 Diffusion-like processes over networks	309
12.3 An empirical application: the CME market	316
12.4 Conclusions and policy implications	323
Bibliography	324
Network Structure and Systemic Risk in Banking Systems	327
Rama Cont, Amal Moussa and Edson B. Santos
13.1 Introduction	327
13.2 The network structure of banking systems	333
13.3 Systemic risk and default contagion	345

13.4	Is default contagion a significant source of systemic risk?	351
13.5	What makes an institution systemically important?	355
13.6	Does one size fit all? The case for targeted capital requirements	361
	Bibliography	365
 PART V: SYSTEMIC RISK AND MATHEMATICAL FINANCE		369
	Systemic Risk and Mathematical Finance	371
	Ronnie Sircar
14	Firms, Banks and Households	372
	L.C.G. Rogers and P. Zaczkowski
14.1	Introduction	372
14.2	Modelling assumptions	374
14.3	Summary	385
14.4	Examples	387
14.5	Numerical results	390
	Bibliography	400
15	An Agent-Based Computational Model for Bank Formation and Interbank Networks	401
	Matheus R. Grasselli and Omneia R. H. Ismail
15.1	Introduction	401
15.2	The pre-banking society	404
15.3	Introducing banks	410
15.4	Interbank market	416
15.5	Communities of correlated preferences	423
15.6	Conclusions and further directions	428
	Bibliography	430
16	Diversification in Financial Networks may Increase Systemic Risk	432
	Josselin Gamier, George Papanicolaou and Tzu-Wei Yang
16.1	Introduction	432
16.2	A bistable mean-field model for systemic risk	433
16.3	Review of some models for systemic risk	439
16.4	Summary and conclusion	442
	Bibliography	442
17	Systemic Risk Illustrated	444
	Jean-Pierre Fouque and Li-Hsien Sun
17.1	Introduction	444
17.2	Stability illustrated by simulations	446
17.3	Mean-field limit	449

23.5	Risk	636
23.6	Rationality	640
23.7	Sentience	645
23.8	Interactions	648
23.9	Policy implications	652
23.10	Conclusion	655
	Bibliography	659
24	Bubbles, Crises, and Heterogeneous Beliefs	663
	Wei Xiong
24.1	Historical bubbles	664
24.2	Limits of arbitrage	674
24.3	Heterogeneous beliefs	677
24.4	Resale option theory of bubbles	682
24.5	Credit cycles	692
24.6	General equilibrium models with heterogeneous beliefs	696
24.7	Welfare analysis with distorted beliefs	701
24.8	Summary and future directions	704
	Bibliography	706
25	Systemic Risk and Sentiment	714
	Giovanni Barone-Adesi, Lorian Mancini and Hersh Shefrin
25.1	Introduction	714
25.2	Behavioral asset pricing theory and sentiment	719
25.3	Estimating the empirical SDF	723
25.4	Sentiment and the financial crisis	726
25.5	External measures of sentiment	734
25.6	Sentiment, systemic risk and leverage	736
25.7	Conclusion	739
	PART IX: REGULATION	743
	Regulation: Introduction	745
	Gary Stern and Ron J. Feldman
26	The New Financial Stability Framework in Europe	748
	Carsten Detken and Per Nymand-Andersen
26.1	The new European approach to systemic risk	749
26.2	The new European systemic risk framework	753
26.3	The ECB approach to systemic risk	755
26.4	Global markets require a global approach to risk.	766
26.5	Conclusion	768
	Bibliography	771

Sector-Level Financial Networks and Macroprudential Risk Analysis in the Euro Area	775
Olli Castren and Ilja Kristian Kavonius
21A Introduction	775
27.2 Description of the data	111
27.3 The network of balance sheet exposures for the aggregate Euro area financial system	111
27.4 Derivation of the risk-based balance sheets	781
27.5 Propagation of shocks in the risk-based financial network	786
27.6 Concluding remarks	788
Bibliography	789
Systemic Risk Early Warning System: A Micro-Macro Prudential Synthesis	791
Mikhail V. Oet, Ryan Eiben, Timothy Bianco, Dieter Gramlich, Stephen J. Ong, and Jing Wang
28.1 Introduction	792
28.2 EWS elements	796
28.3 Risk model and results	801
28.4 Discussion and implications	812
28.5 Conclusions and future work	828
Bibliography	843
PART X: COMPUTATIONAL ISSUES AND REQUIREMENTS	847
Computational Issues and Requirements: Introduction
	849
Richard Byrne
Enabling Data Analysis for Addressing Systemic Risk	852
Eric Hughes, Arnon Rosenthal, Charles Worrell
29.1 Challenges in analyzing systemic risk	852
29.2 Approaches that support analysis	853
29.3 Analysis approaches	862
29.4 Discussion and future research	866
Bibliography	868
Operational Considerations in an Analytic Environment for Systemic Risk	869
Charles Worrell, Samar Guharay, Matt McMahon, Len Seligman, and Rajani Shenoy
30.1 Introduction	869
30.2 Controlling the frame of reference	870

30.3	Managing the data environment	871
30.4	Model hosting and execution environment	874
30.5	Comparison and measurement across disparate models	875
30.6	Aggregation of risk components	877
30.7	From analysis to decisions	879
	Bibliography	880
31	Requirements for Systemic Risk Management in the Financial Sector	882
	Alan J. King, Donna N. Dillenberger, Aviv Orani, Francis N. Parr, and Gong Su
31.1	Introduction	882
31.2	History	884
31.3	Modern mortgage market	884
31.4	Network and counterparty risk	890
31.5	Requirements for broad scope risk	892
31.6	Integrated risk analytics	895
31.7	Reference data	901
31.8	Risk analytics services	907
31.9	Summary	910
	Bibliography	911
	PART XI: ACCOUNTING ISSUES	913
	Accounting and Systemic Risk: An Introduction	915
	Trevor S. Harris
	Bibliography	917
32	Accounting's Role in the Reporting, Creation, and Avoidance of Systemic Risk in Financial Institutions	918
	Trevor S. Harris, Robert Herz and Doron Nissim
32.1	Introduction	918
32.2	Some basics of accounting and financial reporting	921
32.3	Accounting for systemic risk	924
32.4	Accounting for different asset and liability classes	926
32.5	Accounting, pro-cyclicality and systemic risk: summary thoughts	957
32.6	Single firm versus systemic risk	961
32.7	Concluding remarks	962
	Bibliography	963
