

Labour Market and Skills in the Western Balkans

Edited by

Mihail Arandarenko

Professor of Economics
University of Belgrade

Will Bartlett

Senior Research Fellow
London School of Economics

FRE Foundation for the Advancement of Economics

LSEE
Research on South Eastern Europe

LSEE is part of the LSE's European Institute, a Jean Monnet Centre of Excellence

Contents

Part I: Introduction		01
1	The Labour Market, Skills and Growth in the Western Balkans: An Introduction	03
Part II: The Labour Market and Skills Mismatch		17
2	Skills Mismatch in the Western Balkans-Empirical Analysis	19
3	Skills Surveys in Serbia: An Overview and a Case Study	37
4	Skill Needs on the Labour Market in the Republic of Macedonia	63
5	Educational Origins and Occupational Destinations? Dissecting the Education-Job Mismatch in School to Work Transitions in Croatia	73
Part III: The Education System and Skills Mismatch		101
6	Lifelong Learning Policies in Southeastern Europe: From Emulation of EU policies to Tailor-made Reform?	103
7	Is Government Effective in Promoting Human Capital? The Case of Macedonia	129
8	Skills Matching in Croatian SME sector and Competence-based Education and Training: Progress and Prospects	155
9	Reversing the Bosnian “Brain Drain”: Opportunities and Challenges	177
Part IV: Conclusion		199
10	Conclusions: Improving Skill Policies in the Western Balkans	201
References		207