Innovation, Human Capital and Trade Competitiveness

How Are They Connected and Why Do They Matter?

Comparing Countries in Europe, North America, and Asia
Contents

Part I  Human Capital and Innovations vs. Competitive Advantages in Foreign Trade: Theoretical and Model Approach

1 Theoretical Grounds of the Development of Long-Term Competitive Advantages in International Trade ........................................................................ 3
   Józef Misala

2 Human Capital and Innovation—Basic Concepts, Measures, and Interdependencies .................................................................................. 53
   Ziemowit Czajkowski, Arkadiusz Michał Kowalski, Beata Michorowska and Marzenna Anna Weresa

3 Concept of National Innovation System and International Competitiveness—A Theoretical Approach .................................................. 81
   Marzenna Anna Weresa

4 Human Capital and Innovations As Determinants of Competitiveness ................................................................................................. 105
   Ziemowit Czajkowski

Part II  Changes in Competitive Advantages in Foreign Trade and National Innovation Systems’ Development: Comparing Countries in Europe, North America and Asia

5 International Competitiveness of Countries with Dynamic Innovation Systems ................................................................................... 161
   Ireneusz Bil, Krzysztof Falkowski and Arkadiusz Michał Kowalski

6 International Competitiveness of Countries with Performing Innovation Systems ............................................................................. 229
   Andreas Bielig, Józef Olszyński, Grażyna Wojtkowska-Łodej, Oskar Kowalewski and Tomasz Napiórkowski
7  International Competitiveness of Countries with Catch-up Innovation Systems ................................................................. 319
Mariusz-Jan Radło and Marcin Gomułka

8  International Competitiveness of Countries with Unbalanced
Innovation Systems ............................................................................... 357
Krzysztof Falkowski, Günter Heiduk, Agnieszka McCaleb
and Beata Michorowska

Summary and Conclusions Regarding Economic Policies
Supporting Medium- and Long-Term Competitive Position of Domestic Goods on Foreign Markets ............................................... 441

Editor and Author Bios........................................................................... 447
Bibliography ............................................................................................ 453
Annexure: Sector Classifications ............................................................ 479