Contents

Appendix of Sources  ix
Timeline  xiii
Legends in Marketing  xv
Legends in Marketing: V. Kumar  xix
Volume Introduction: International Marketing—An Introduction to V. Kumar’s Contributions to International Marketing by Daniel C. Bello  xxi

1. Researching International Markets: Philosophical and Methodological Issues  1
2. International Marketing Research  61
3. Global Diffusion Models: Back to the Future  86
4. Multinational Diffusion Models: An Alternative Framework (with Trichy V. Krishnan)  106
5. Segmenting Global Markets: Look Before You Leap (with Anish Naggal)  126
6. Cross-National Diffusion Research: What Do We Know and How Certain Are We? (with Jaishankar Ganesh and Raj Echambadi)  135
7. Learning Effect in Multinational Diffusion of Consumer Durables: An Exploratory Investigation (with Jaishankar Ganesh and Velavan Subramaniam)  158
8. A Contingency Framework for the Mode of Entry Decision (with Velavan Subramaniam)  185
9. Capturing the Cross-National Learning Effect: An Analysis of an Industrial Technology Diffusion (with Jaishankar Ganesh)  205
10. An Interactive Multicriteria Approach to Identifying Potential Foreign Markets (with Antonie Stam and Erich A. Joachimsthaler)  224
11. International Direct Marketing Efforts: Are They Useful to Small Businesses in Establishing Consistent Patterns of Exporting? (with Nancy D. Albers)  250
Perspectives of Other Scholars

12. VK: Profile of a Prolific Researcher, Consummate Educator, and a Cherished Colleague by Esra Geçtiürk 267
13. VK Is a Passionate and Supportive Scholar by David A. Griffith 271
14. V. Kumar's Contributions to the Field of International Marketing by Kelly Hewett 278

Daniel C. Bello Interviews V. Kumar

15. International Marketing Research Is Getting More and More Sophisticated 287

About the Editors and Contributors 292