The Road through the Rust Belt
From Preeminence to Decline to Prosperity

William M. Bowen
Editor

2014

W.E. Upjohn Institute for Employment Research
Kalamazoo, Michigan
Contents

1 Introduction
Edward W. (Ned) Hill

2 Midwestern Urban and Regional Responses to Global Economic Transition
William M. Bowen and Kelly L. Kinahan

3 Can Tax Expenditures Stimulate Growth in Rust Belt Cities?
Benjamin Y. Clark

4 The Evolution of Clusters and Implications for the Revival of Old Industrial Cities
Haifeng Qian

5 Stop Shovelling: A New Workforce Development Strategy to Promote Regional Prosperity
Joel A. Elvery

6 Distinctly Cleveland: How the Arts are Helping to Revitalize Rust Belt Cities
Gregory M. Sadlek and Joan Chase

7 How Energy Policy Enabled the Decline of Midwestern Cities, and How It Can Contribute to Their Rehabilitation
Andrew R. Thomas

8 Entrepreneurial Initiatives in Chinese Markets: Why They Are Important and What Firms Need to Know
Chieh-Chen Bowen

9 Barriers and Opportunities for Entrepreneurship in Older Industrial Regions
Ziona Austrian and Merissa C. Piazza

10 Reasons for Misgivings about Local Economic Development Initiatives
William M. Bowen and Chang-Shik Song
11 Lost a Step: The Great Lakes Region and Entrepreneurship
David R. Elkins
Authors 307
Index 311
About the Institute 329