Money and Trade Wars in Interwar Europe

Alessandro Roselli
Honorary Visiting Fellow, Cass Business School, London
Contents

List of Figures and Tables
ix
Preface
xi
Acknowledgements
xvi

Part I  The Gold Standard Reinstated

1  War Reparations and Hyperinflation in Germany
   1  Inter-Allied war debt and Germany
   2  The London Schedule of Payments
   3  Reparations and hyperinflation: the balance of payments perspective
   4  The fiscal policy/national output perspective
2  The Reichsmark: Stabilization and Foreign Loans
   1  The mark stabilization of 1924
   2  The Reichsbank reorganized: the Dawes Plan
   3  The Young Plan
3  Golden Fetters Revisited
   1  The gold standard: a few basic principles
   2  Institutional factors
   3  The gold standard leverage
   4  Methods of de-leveraging in the post-war period
   5  The completion of 'realignments' 1924–1928
   6  The story of the Italian return to the gold standard

Part II  The Gold Standard Collapse: Nationalism and Bilateralism in International Financial Relations

4  Towards Nationalism
   1  German banking crisis and economic depression
   2  German exchange controls; the end of reparations
   3  America and the inter-Allied debt
   4  The Nazis in charge
   5  Germany: the international side
   6  Germany: the domestic side
   7  The United States and Britain
   8  Italy: living with an overvalued currency

vii
Contents

5 Bond Repatriation, Export Subsidies and Clearing Agreements
   1 International currency shortage and recourse to barter 105
   2 Germany's trade 109
   3 Foreign exchange controls and debt reduction techniques as a tool of trade policy 112
   4 Payment agreements 117
   5 Clearing agreements: an overview 120
   6 German clearing agreements with West European countries after the ‘New Plan’ 126
   7 The ASKI marks 131
   8 Germany's dysfunctional clearings, and the final attempts to preserve the peace 133

6 Germany's and Italy's Relations with Southeastern Europe
   1 German trade with the Balkans 138
   2 Clearing agreements 141
   3 Germany and Italy in Southeastern Europe: a case of noli me tangere! 146
   4 Italy and Albania 150

7 The Italian–German clearing
   1 Italy and Germany: their trade balance 155
   2 The Italian–German clearing of 1934 160
   3 Italy's exchange controls: the new clearing agreement of 1935 164

Part III What Europe?

8 The Funk Plan (by Paolo Fonzi)
   1 The Reichsbank's prospective stance on monetary issues in 1940 175
   2 Different strategies for the unification of Europe 179
   3 The Funk Plan 184
   4 National Socialist ideology and the rationale of the Funk Plan 187

9 Money for the World of Tomorrow
   1 Reactions to the plan: fascist Italy 192
   2 Reactions to the plan: Keynes and the British government 200
   3 Some final considerations on the plan and multilateral clearings 203

Postscript 208
Notes 215
References 244
Archives 251
Index 253