Born Globals, Networks and the Large Multinational Enterprise
Insights from Bangalore and beyond

Shameen Prashantham
Contents

List of figures xvi
List of tables xvii
List of boxes xviii
Foreword xix
Preface xx
Acknowledgments xxii
List of abbreviations xxv

PART I

Conceptual underpinnings 1

1 Networks and new venture internationalization 3
   Introduction: the motivation for this book 3
   International entrepreneurship: an overview 5
   Networks and new venture internationalization 7
   Postscript: Uppsala research and the turn toward a network approach 15

2 MNE networks: a blindspot in INV research 18
   Introduction: bringing back the multinational 18
   The embedded MNE 19
   MNE subsidiary entrepreneurship 20
   MNE network orchestration 22
   The MNE–INV interface: beyond siloed research on MNEs and INVs 24

3 MNE networks and new venture internationalization 27
   Developing MNE ties 28
   Leveraging MNE ties 30
   MNE ties: adding value to the social capital portfolio of an INV 38
PART II
Exploratory insights

4 Rising innovation and emergent MNE–INV engagement
The evolving Bangalore software industry 45
Rising innovation and MNE–INV engagement: insights from a panel 47
Exploratory insights from Bangalore (and beyond): what can we learn? 54

5 MNE ties: geography-spanning social capital for INVs
Introduction: spatial embeddedness of network ties 57
MNE vs. VC ties: cases from Bangalore and Cambridge 59
MNE networks as a substitute for voids in the entrepreneurial ecosystem 67

6 Internationalization capability learning via MNE ties
Theory and background 70
Methodology 76
Findings 78
Discussion 80
Conclusion 82

7 Realizing internationalization outcomes via MNE ties
The Skelta case: an expanded narrative 85
How new ventures leverage MNE ties to realize internationalization outcomes 87
Comparing Bangalore and Beijing: boundary-spanners and the “pull of gravity” 90

PART III
Implications and directions

8 Implications for research
Introduction: shifting the research conversation (again) 99
Synthesis: exploratory insights from Bangalore (and beyond) 100
Toward a research agenda at the MNE–INV interface 102
Revitalizing research on global strategy and strategic entrepreneurship 105

9 Implications for policy 108
10 Implications for practice
The hidden story behind dancing with gorillas 118

Appendix: Teaching case 127

References 140
Index 153