Contents

4 Zero-Sum Games with Spatial Preferences 139

4.1 Introduction 139
4.2 Plott, McKelvey and the Core Results of Spatial Theory 145
4.3 Two-Candidate Elections and the Electoral College 153
4.4 Turnout and Responsible Political Parties 156
4.5 Multi-Candidate Elections 159
4.6 Candidate Objectives and Game-Theoretic Reasoning 163
4.7 The Strategy of Introducing New Issues 165
4.8 Elections with Uninformed Voters 168
4.9 Other Applications 174
4.10 Key Ideas and Concepts 175
Exercises for Chapter 4 176

5 The Prisoners’ Dilemma and Collective Action 180

5.1 The Prisoners’ Dilemma 180
5.2 Some Simple Dilemmas in Politics 183
5.3 Cooperation and the Problem of Collective Action 195
5.4 Escaping the Dilemma: Repetition and Reputation 200
5.5 Constitutional Design and A Recursive Game 211
5.6 Evolutionarily Stable Strategies and Corruption 219
5.7 Key Ideas and Concepts 229
Exercises for Chapter 5 229

6 Agendas and Voting Rules 233

6.1 Agendas and Voting 233
6.2 Two Special Voting Rules and Peculiar Results 239
6.3 Two Alternative Rules for Electing Presidents 251
6.4 Controlling the Issues Voted On 255
6.5 Referenda and Separability of Preferences 263
6.6 Key Ideas and Concepts 267
Exercises for Chapter 6 267

7 Games with Incomplete Information 271

7.1 Incomplete Information 271
7.2 A Simple Game of Incomplete Information 275
7.3 Bayes’s Law and Bayesian Equilibrium 281
7.4 A Game with Two-Sided Incomplete Information 289
7.5 Agendas Reconsidered 293
7.6 Reputation and the Chain-Store Paradox 300
Contents

7.7 Signaling, Deception and Mutually Assured Destruction 302
7.8 Economic Sanctions in International Affairs 310
7.9 Rationality Reconsidered 317
7.10 Key Ideas and Concepts 323
Exercises for Chapter 7 323

8 Cooperation and Coalitions 327
8.1 The Concept of a Coalition 327
8.2 Coalitions and Condorcet Winners 330
8.3 A Generalization—The Core 335
8.4 The Politics of Redistribution 340
8.5 The Core and Spatial Issues 342
8.6 Majority Rule Games Without Cores 344
8.7 Parliamentary Coalitions 354
8.8 Problems and Some Incomplete Ideas 358
8.9 The Balance of Power Versus Collective Security 361
8.10 Key Ideas and Concepts 371
Exercises for Chapter 8 371

Appendix 377
Index 413