Behavioral Risk Management

Managing the Psychology That Drives Decisions and Influences Operational Risk

Hersh Shefrin
Contents

Figures and Tables
  vii

Preface
  xiii

1. Introduction

  1

Part I

2. SP/A Theory's Focus on Three Key Emotions

  19

3. Prospect Theory's Focus on Gains, Losses, and Framing

  37

4. Biases and Risk

  53

5. Personality and Risk

  71

Part II

6. Process, Pitfalls, and Culture

  85

7. Minsky, the Financial Instability Hypothesis, and Risk Management

  105

8. Aspirational Pitfalls at UBS and Merrill Lynch

  125

9. Cheating Issues at S&P and Moody’s

  141

10. Groupthink at Fannie, Freddie, and AIG

     157

11. The Winner’s Curse Strikes at RBS, Fortis, and ABN AMRO

     173

12. Behavioral Dimension of Systemic Risk

     191

13. Financial Regulation and Psychology

     211

14. Risk of Fraud, Madoff, and the SEC

     229

15. Risk, Return, and Individual Stocks

     249

16. How Psychology Brought Down MF Global

     267
Contents

17. JPMorgan's Whale of a Risk Management Failure 281
19. Information Sharing Failures at Southwest Airlines, General Motors, and the Agencies That Regulate Them 319
20. Conclusion 335

Appendix A: A Deeper Dive into SP/A Theory 347
Appendix B: A Deeper Dive into Prospect Theory 369
Appendix C: Integrating SP/A Theory and Prospect Theory 385
Appendix D: A Deeper Dive into Heuristics and Biases 409
Appendix E: A Formal Model of Organizational Risk 435
Appendix F: Modelling FIH Issues 445
Appendix G: Empirical Proxies of Sentiment 453
Appendix H: A Formal Model for Identifying Failing Banks 459
Appendix I: FIH Issues in China and Europe 461
Notes 469
Index 509