Table of Contents

List of Figures	I
List of Tables.....	II
List of Abbreviations.....	III
Structure of this thesis.....	IV
1. Consumers' choice in context: Context effects, validity of past findings and a research agenda.....	1
1.1. Chapter overview.....	1
1.2. Introduction into Consumers' choice in context and context effects	2
1.3. Generalizability and applicability of experimental consumer research findings	7
1.4. Important background factors and their impact on generalizability of experimental context effect research.....	11
1.4.1. Real economic consequences	11
1.4.2. Realistic and meaningful product presentation, attributes and attribute levels	13
1.4.3. The importance of a no-buy option	14
1.4.4. Correspondence of relevant sample characteristics with the extrapolation system.....	14
1.4.5. The possibility for a sensory evaluation of alternatives prior to choice	16
1.4.6. Choice options that can be clearly encoded by participants	17
1.4.7. Repeated choices per respondent.....	18
1.5. Consideration of relevant background factors in prior context effect research.....	18
1.5.1. Method.....	19
1.5.2. Results	21
1.5.3. Additional findings.....	24
1.6. A guideline for implementing context effect experiments.....	27
1.6.1. Introduction of economic consequences.....	28
1.6.2. Usage of real items / realistic product descriptions	30
1.6.3. Finding a meaningful sample	30
1.6.4. Implementation of sensory pre-choice evaluation.....	31
1.6.5. Inclusion of a no-buy option.....	31
1.6.6. Inspection of subjects' perception	32
1.6.7. Avoidance of artificial learning processes.....	32
1.7. Summary and extracted implications from Chapter 1	33

2. Compromise effects in binding choices on consumer durables.....	36
2.1. Chapter overview.....	36
2.2. Background.....	36
2.3. Research goals and hypothesis development	38
2.4. Methods and materials.....	41
2.4.1. Experimental design and stimuli	41
2.4.2. Experimental procedure.....	44
2.5. Results	45
2.5.1. Preliminary analysis	45
2.5.2. Analysis of the compromise effect.....	47
2.5.3. The compromise effect in respect of durables vs. FMCG	48
2.6. Summary and extracted implications from Chapter 2.....	49
3. Attraction effects in binding choices on durables in contrast to hypothetical decisions	53
3.1. Chapter overview.....	53
3.2. Background.....	53
3.3. Research goals and hypothesis development	55
3.4. Methods and materials.....	56
3.4.1. Experimental design and stimuli	56
3.4.2. Experimental procedure.....	58
3.5. Results	58
3.5.1. Preliminary analysis	58
3.5.2. Analysis of the attraction effect.....	59
3.5.3. Additional analysis.....	61
3.6. Summary and extracted implications from Chapter 3	62
4. Serotonin deficiency in consumers susceptibility to the compromise effect and choice deferral	65
4.1. Chapter overview.....	65
4.2. Background and research goals	66
4.3. Hypothesis development	68

4.4. Study 1: The effects of ATD on purchase rates and the compromise effect (within-subjects).....	71
4.4.1. Methods and materials.....	71
4.4.2. Results	77
4.5. Study 2: The effects of ATD on purchase rates and the compromise effect (between-subjects).....	81
4.5.1. Methods and materials.....	81
4.5.2. Results	82
4.6. Study 3: The effects of ATD on purchase rates in situations without a compromise option 85
4.6.1. Methods and materials.....	85
4.6.2. Results	86
4.7. Summary and extracted implications from Chapter 4	87
5. Attraction and compromise effects in choice-based conjoint analysis	92
5.1. Chapter overview.....	92
5.2. Background.....	92
5.3. Research goals and hypothesis development	94
5.4. Methods and materials.....	99
5.4.1. Experimental design and stimuli	99
5.4.2. Experimental procedure.....	103
5.5. Results	104
5.5.1. Preliminary analyses.....	104
5.5.2. Analysis of decision patterns.....	105
5.6. Summary and extracted implications from Chapter 5	109
6. Discussion	115
6.1. General summary of the main findings	115
6.2. Implications, limitations, and future research avenues	123
Appendix 1: Compromise effect for durables (Chapter 2).....	132
Appendix 2: Attraction effect in binding vs. hypothetical choices (Chapter 3).....	135
Appendix 3: Serotonin and consumer behavior (Chapter 4)	140

Appendix 4: Attraction and compromise effects in choice-based conjoint analysis (Chapter 5) 153
