Contents

1 Introduction. And Yet the Twain Meet: Great Convergence
   - Brings the East Closer to the West .................................................. 1
   - Why This Book Has Been Written, or the Great Divergence and Great Convergence as Two Phases of a Single Process .................. 1
   - How Did the Perception by the Europeans of the Non-European World Change? From Marco Polo to the California School .................. 2
   - Great Convergence in the Past and in the Future .............................. 6

2 Great Divergence and the Rise of the West ...................................... 17
   - A General Analysis of the Development of Asia and Europe .................. 17
   - Some Preconditions of the Great Divergence in the Early Modern Period .................................................................................... 31
     - Some Comparisons Between the West and the East:
       - Technological Peculiarities ......................................................... 32
     - Some Comparisons Between Europe and the East:
       - Structural Features of Economic Systems ..................................... 36
     - Some Comparisons Between the West and the East:
       - Socioeconomic Peculiarities ...................................................... 37
       - Territorial and Demographic Proportions .................................... 40
   - Catching Up Divergence of the Early Modern Period ......................... 41
   - Industrial Revolution and Its Three Phases ...................................... 52
     - Why Does It Make Sense to Consider the Industrial Revolution as a Long-Term Process? ............................................. 52
     - The Initial Phase of the Industrial Revolution .............................. 55
     - Middle Phase of the Industrial Revolution .................................. 57
     - Final Phase of the Industrial Revolution ...................................... 62
   - Why Britain? ...................................................................................... 64
   - Beginning and Apogee of the Great Divergence and the Emergence of the Capitalist World-System ............................ 73
     - Modernization of the West ............................................................ 73
     - Subjugation of the East and the Start of Its Transformation ............ 78
Contents

3 Great Convergence and the Rise of the Rest
- Long-Term Divergence–Convergence Trends as Regards the GDP .................................. 86
- On the Dynamics of the West’s Share in the World Population ........................................ 93
- On the Dynamics of the Gap Between the West and the Rest as Regards the Per Capita GDP ........................................ 96
- Statistical Addendum to This Chapter: On the Structure of the Present-day Convergence ........................................ 106

4 The Great Convergence and Globalization: How Former Colonies Became the World Economic Locomotives
- Western Technologies and the Emergence of Prerequisites for a Shift Toward Convergence in the Late Nineteenth and Early Twentieth Centuries ........................................ 116
- West and East After the Second World War: Technologies and Politics ........................................ 120
- The Beginning of the Turn to Convergence: Causes and Manifestations ........................................ 124
- Fundamental Reasons ........................................ 125
- Some Consequences of Changes ........................................ 134
- On Discussions About the Possibility of Convergence: Why Did Economists Overlook It? ........................................ 138
- Globalization Becomes the Major Cause of Convergence ........................................ 145
- How the Globalization Have Weakened the Core and Strengthened the Periphery ........................................ 149

5 Afterword: The Great Convergence and Possible Increase in Global Instability, or the World Without an Absolute Leader ........................................ 159

Appendix A: Technological Innovation Activities in Britain and Other Western Countries (1400–1900)—A Quantitative Analysis ........................................ 167

- Reconsidering Weber ........................................ 179
- A Mathematical Model of the Great Divergence and the Great Convergence ........................................ 186
- The Phases of Global Demographic Transition as Correlated with Phases of the Great Divergence and Great Convergence ........................................ 198
- The Income Gap and World Population Growth as Tightly-Coupled Processes ........................................ 201
- Methods and Data Summary for Appendix B ........................................ 205

References ........................................ 209

Index ........................................ 243