

AGAINST THE TROIKA

CRISIS AND AUSTERITY IN THE EUROZONE

HEINER FLASSBECK AND COSTAS LAPAVITSAS

FOREWORD BY OSKAR LAFONTAINE

PREFACE BY PAUL MASON

AFTERWORD BY

ALBERTO GARZÓN ESPINOSA

VERSO
London • New York

Contents

Foreword by Oskar Lafontaine	vii
Preface by Paul Mason	ix
1 The Deepening Crisis of the European Monetary Union	1
2 The Theoretical Rationale of a Monetary Union	5
The case for monetary cooperation—The core monetary principles of the EMU—Wage flexibility and its consequences—Real wage growth determines domestic demand—Real or nominal convergence?
3 Germany as the Source of the Eurozone Crisis	21
Political pressure to lower wages in Germany...—... Results in a Huge Gap in Competitiveness inside the EMU—Competition among nations?—Germany's success - and its failure—Germany has to adjust
4 The Stock-Flow Quandary of the EMU	39
Politics tends to focus on stocks but flows are even more crucial—With forced adjustment of competitiveness, deflation becomes the main threat—The role of fiscal deficits and national financial flows in Germany
5 European and Global Inability to Deal with External Imbalances	51
The EU's Macroeconomic Imbalance Procedure and its biased execution—The global political failure to avoid external imbalances—The failure of mainstream theory to explain trade imbalances—The neoliberal approach to savings is generally flawed
6 The EMU Heads to Disaster	67
Emerging European monetary disunion—Neither a political union nor a transfer union are plausible solutions for the EMU

7	What Could and Should Be Done by the Left?	73
	A confused response so far—Striving for an alternative path within the current EMU: An ‘impossible triad’—Confronting the EU effectively: Aims and actions of a Left government
8	Managing Confrontational Exit from the EMU	81
9	Dismantling the EMU	85
10	The Greek Catastrophe	89
	Economic and social collapse; Weak growth prospects—The path to poverty and historical irrelevance
11	An Alternative Path for Greece	95
	National debt: The imperative of a deep write-off—Lifting of austerity: Neither fiscal surpluses, nor balanced budgets—The banking system: Failure of private banking and the need for nationalisation—Relieving the worst of the crisis and restoring labour market conditions—Medium-term restructuring of the productive sector—Democratisation and state transformation
12	A Ray of Hope for Greece and Europe	117
	Afterword: An Opportunity for Europe by Alberto Garzón Espinosa	121
	Bibliography	125