International Tax Structures in the BEPS Era:
An Analysis of Anti-Abuse Measures

Editorial Team

Madalina Cotrut
(Managing Editor)

Aleksandra Bal
Rijkele Betten
Ridha Hamzaoui
Belema Obuoforibo
Ola Ostaszewska

Volume 2
IBFD Tax Research Series
Table of Contents

Foreword v
General Acknowledgements vii
Introduction ix
Abbreviations and Acronyms xi

Part One
Recent Developments in International Tax Structuring

Chapter 1: Common Strategies against Tax Avoidance: A Global Overview 3
Lydia G. Ogazón Juárez and Ridha Hamzaoui

1.1. Introduction 3
1.2. Tax avoidance: General 5
1.2.1. Scope of the term 5
1.2.1.1. Tax avoidance versus tax evasion 5
1.2.1.2. Tax avoidance versus tax planning 6
1.2.1.3. The role of policymakers in defining clear boundaries 7
1.2.2. Conditions facilitating tax avoidance 8
1.3. Tax planning schemes: Domestic law and treaty provisions 10
1.3.1. Domestic law rules 10
1.3.1.1. Regimes allowing for exemption of foreign-source income 10
1.3.1.1.1. Patent box regimes 10
1.3.1.1.2. Participation exemption regimes 11
1.3.1.1.3. Holding company regimes 12
1.3.1.1.4. Territorial tax systems 12
1.3.1.2. Regimes allowing the use of mismatches between tax rules in different countries 13
1.3.1.2.1. US check-the-box regime 13
1.3.1.2.2. Use of hybrid financial instruments and entities 14
1.3.1.3. Provisions relating to residence 14
1.3.1.3.1. Dual resident companies and stateless companies 14

xiii
Table of Contents

1.3.1.3.2. Tie-breaker rule for companies 15

1.3.2. Tax treaty rules 16
  1.3.2.1. Tax sparing clauses 16
  1.3.2.2. Modification of treaty classification of income 16
  1.3.2.3. Circumvention of thresholds found in treaty provisions 17

1.4. Countering aggressive tax planning 17
  1.4.1. Domestic legislation: General anti-avoidance rules 18
    1.4.1.1. General anti-avoidance rules generally 18
    1.4.1.2. The concept of “arrangement” or “scheme” 19
    1.4.1.3. The concept of “tax benefit” or “tax advantage” 20
    1.4.1.4. Compatibility of domestic GAARs with tax treaties 20
  1.4.2. Domestic legislation: Specific anti-abuse rules 21
    1.4.2.1. Specific anti-abuse rules in particular 21
    1.4.2.2. Controlled foreign company rules 22
      1.4.2.2.1. CFC rules: Main features 22
      1.4.2.2.2. Strengthening CFC rules: BEPS Action 3 23
  1.4.3. Tax treaties: Anti-abuse provisions 25
  1.4.4. Another approach: Exchange of information and cooperation between tax authorities 26
    1.4.4.1. Convention on Mutual Administrative Assistance in Tax Matters 27
    1.4.4.2. Standard for Automatic Exchange of Financial Account Information 27
    1.4.4.3. OECD Aggressive Tax Planning Directory 28
    1.4.4.4. United States: Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act 29

1.5. Conclusion 30

Annexes 32

Part Two

New Roles of the Concepts in International Tax Structuring

Chapter 2: Permanent Establishments in International Tax Structuring 43

Rijkele Betten and Monia Naoum

2.1. Introduction 43
2.2. Use of permanent establishments for tax structuring purposes 44
Chapter 2: Approach of countries to tackling abuse structures

2.2.1. Avoidance of permanent establishment status
   2.2.1.1. Commissionaire arrangements
   2.2.1.2. Splitting up of contracts
   2.2.1.3. Undertaking activities of a preparatory or auxiliary nature

2.2.2. Limited attribution of profits to permanent establishments

2.2.3. Intentional creation of a permanent establishment
   2.2.3.1. Exemption regimes
   2.2.3.2. Financing structures

2.3. Approach of countries to tackling abuse structures

2.4. BEPS Action Plan
   2.4.1. Artificial avoidance of permanent establishment status through commissionaire agreements and similar strategies
   2.4.2. Artificial avoidance of permanent establishment status through the specific activity exemptions
   2.4.3. Splitting up of contracts
   2.4.4. Profit attribution to permanent establishments and interaction with Actions on transfer pricing

2.5. Limitation and restrictions regarding solutions

2.6. Conclusions and expectations

Chapter 3: Transfer Pricing from the Perspective of Substance and Transparency: Is the OECD on the Right Track?

Anuschka J. Bakker

3.1. Introduction

3.2. Selected transactions with transfer pricing relevance
   3.2.1. Business restructurings
   3.2.2. Services
   3.2.3. Intra-group financing
      3.2.3.1. Background
      3.2.3.2. Intercompany loans
      3.2.3.3. Guarantees

3.3. Transfer Pricing and the BEPS Action Plan
   3.3.1. Country-by-country reporting
   3.3.2. Low-value-adding services
   3.3.3. Changes to Chapter I of the OECD Guidelines
   3.3.4. Financial transactions

3.4. Conclusion
Part Three
Financing Activities

Chapter 4: Anti-Base-Erosion Measures for Intra-Group Debt Financing
René Offermanns and Boyke Baldewsing

4.1. Introduction: Funding with debt or equity? 103
4.2. Tax structures for group financing and the applicable anti-base erosion measures 104
4.2.1. Tax structures using a low-taxed group financing company 105
4.2.1.1. Thin capitalization rules as an anti-base erosion measure 105
4.2.1.2. General anti-abuse rules 109
4.2.1.3. Restrictions in the case of notional interest deduction regimes 110
4.2.1.4. CFC rules 112
4.2.1.5. Restrictions applicable to payments to tax haven entities 113
4.2.2. Tax structures using a finance company with a financing branch 115
4.2.2.1. Anti-triangular rule in tax treaties to counter the use of low taxed finance branches 116
4.2.2.2. Substance at the level of the financing branch 117
4.2.3. Tax structures using back-to-back loans 118
4.2.3.1. Substance and residence requirement for holding companies to obtain tax treaty protection 119
4.2.3.2. Beneficial ownership requirement 120
4.2.3.3. Limitation on benefits provision 121
4.2.3.4. Anti-abuse rules in tax treaties 122
4.3. Recent developments of the BEPS Action Plan 122
4.3.1. Context of Action 4 122
4.3.2. Summary of the three main recommendations under Action 4 124
4.4. Conclusion 125
Table of Contents

Chapter 5: Hybrid Instruments in the Post-BEPS Era

Shee Boon Law and Marjolein Kinds

5.1. Introduction 127
5.2. OECD recommendations on hybrid instrument mismatches 128
5.2.1. Direct hybrid mismatches 129
5.2.2. Hybrid transfers 130
5.2.3. Indirect hybrid mismatches 132
5.2.4. Hybrid mismatches and other actions in the BEPS Action Plan 134
5.3. Managing coordination rules under domestic law 136
5.3.1. Relationship between the OECD recommendations and other domestic law 137
5.3.1.1. Netherlands 137
5.3.1.2. New Zealand 139
5.3.1.3. United States 141
5.3.2. Other technical considerations 143
5.3.2.1. Timing mismatches 144
5.3.2.2. Structured arrangements 145
5.3.2.3. Policy exceptions 146
5.3.2.4. Deduction/non-inclusion outcomes caused by character and ownership mismatches 147
5.3.2.5. Bona fide hybrids 148
5.3.2.6. Tax treaty considerations 149
5.4. Conclusion 150

Chapter 6: Past, Present and Future of Tax Structuring Using Hybrid Entity Mismatches

Oana Popa

6.1. Introduction: Hybrid entity mismatches in the spotlight 153
6.2. Tax structures using hybrids and reverse hybrids: Manipulating mismatches 155
6.2.1. (Ab)using the domestic rules for entity classification 155
6.2.2. Basic models of tax structuring using hybrid entity mismatches 157
6.2.3. Practical aspects 160
6.3. Rules addressing hybrid entity mismatches before BEPS 163
6.3.1. Experiences of various countries before BEPS 163
6.3.2. Countries’ options before BEPS 167
6.3.2.1. GAARs: An answer to artificial features of hybrid entity mismatches 167
6.3.2.2.  SAARs: Same purpose from two perspectives – Source and residence state defence against hybrid entity mismatches 170
6.3.2.2.1.  CFC rules 171
6.3.2.2.2.  Rules limiting interest deduction 172
6.3.2.3.  Other rules 174
6.3.2.3.1.  Withholding taxes 174
6.3.2.3.2.  Anti-tax haven rules 175
6.3.2.3.3.  Reconsideration of group consolidation regimes 176
6.3.3.  Lessons for the future 176
6.4.  Rules addressing hybrid entity mismatches in the BEPS era 177
6.4.1.  OECD recommendations 178
6.4.1.1.  Arrangements that produce DD outcomes 178
6.4.1.2.  Arrangements that produce D/NI outcomes 179
6.4.1.3.  Arrangements using reverse hybrids 179
6.4.2.  Responses of countries to BEPS: Current state of affairs 179
6.4.3.  Hybrid entity mismatches in the BEPS era: Closely scrutinized worldwide 182
6.5.  Concluding remarks 182

Part Four
Selected Business Models

Chapter 7:  Business Restructurings: The Toolkit for Tackling Abusive International Tax Structures 187
Madalina Cotrut and Laura Ambagtsheer-Pakarinen

7.1.  Overview of potential reasons for business restructuring 187
7.2.  Typical business restructuring models 189
7.2.1.  Restructuring manufacturing activities 190
7.2.2.  Restructuring distribution activities 194
7.2.3.  Centralization of services 198
7.2.4.  IP and centralization 199
7.3.  Business restructuring structures and anti-abuse measures: The fight for substance 199
7.3.1.  Testing business restructurings by applying GAARs 200
7.3.2.  Testing substance by analysing available documentation 201
7.3.3.  Transfer pricing analysis 203
Table of Contents

7.3.4. Analysis of the substance of the principal .................................................. 206
7.3.5. Testing the PE exposure ............................................................................. 208
7.3.6. Testing whether compensation upon conversion should be paid ................ 213
7.3.7. Restricting the tax deductibility of expenses arising from a conversion ......... 216
7.4. Conclusions ......................................................................................... 217

Chapter 8: Intellectual Property Structuring in the Context of the OECD BEPS Action Plan 219

Ruxandra Vlasceanu

8.1. Setting the scene ............................................................................. 220
8.2. Structuring IP .................................................................................... 225
8.3. Impact of the BEPS Action Plan .............................................................. 225
  8.3.1. General comments ........................................................................... 233
  8.3.2. Actions tackling the prevention of double non-taxation ................. 234
  8.3.3. Action 5 on harmful tax practices ..................................................... 237
    8.3.3.1. Existing regimes ...................................................................... 238
    8.3.3.2. Specific comments on Action 5 .................................................. 239
8.4. Recent developments and a blueprint for the future ....................................... 242
  8.4.1. Domestic provisions targeting aggressive tax planning .................... 242
  8.4.2. The redesign of IP regimes ................................................................. 245
8.5. Concluding remarks ............................................................................ 246

Chapter 9: Taxation of the Digital Economy .......................................................... 249

Aleksandra Bai and Carlos Gutiérrez

9.1. Introduction: The digital economy as a new way of doing business ............... 249
9.2. Concept of the digital economy .................................................................. 253
9.3. Tax challenges of the digital economy ....................................................... 255
  9.3.1. Residence taxation ........................................................................... 257
  9.3.2. Source taxation: Physical versus digital presence .............................. 259
  9.3.3. Source taxation: Taxation of business profits of a PE ......................... 260
  9.3.4. Income characterization ..................................................................... 265
  9.3.5. Indirect taxation: EU VAT .................................................................. 268
    9.3.5.1. Digital supplies ......................................................................... 269
    9.3.5.2. Distance sales ........................................................................... 272
    9.3.5.3. Intermediaries .......................................................................... 274
Table of Contents

9.4. National initiatives concerning the digital economy 276
9.4.1. New PE concepts 276
9.4.2. New taxes on specific transactions 277
9.4.3. New taxes on profits 279
9.5. Conclusion 280

Chapter 10: International Tax Structuring for Holding Activities 281

Andreas Perdelwitz

10.1. Introduction 281
10.2. General characteristics of holding companies 282
10.2.1. Legal forms 284
10.2.2. Types 285
10.3. Planning strategies and key criteria for holding locations 285
10.3.1. Repatriation strategies 286
10.3.2. Allocation strategies 289
10.3.3. Key criteria for holding company locations 291
10.4. Limits on tax structuring with holding companies 294
10.4.1. General anti-abuse rules 296
10.4.2. Transfer pricing 297
10.4.3. Residence 300
10.4.4. Beneficial ownership requirement 303
10.4.5. Interim conclusion 307
10.5. Potential impact of the BEPS Action Plan 307
10.5.1. Action 6: Prevent treaty abuse 307
10.5.2. Limitation on benefits rules in tax treaties 308
10.5.2.1. Publicly-traded companies test 310
10.5.2.2. Ownership/base erosion test 311
10.5.2.3. Active business test 314
10.5.2.4. Derivative benefits test 315
10.5.3. Principal-purpose test under tax treaties 317
10.6. Conclusion 321

List of Authors 323

---

xx