Services and Innovation

Edited by

Faïz Gallouj
Professor of Economics and a member of CIRESI - CNRS
University of Lille 1 – Science and Technology
France

and

Faridah Djellal
Professor of Economics and a member of CIRESI - CNRS
University of Lille 1 – Science and Technology
France

An Elgar Research Collection
Cheltenham, UK • Northampton, MA, USA
Contents

Acknowledgements

Introduction  Faiz Gallouj and Faridah Djellal  xiii

PART I  TOWARDS A THEORY OF INNOVATION IN SERVICES

5. Erik J. de Vries (2006), 'Innovation in Services in Networks of Organizations and in the Distribution of Services', Research Policy, 35 (7), September, 1037–51  82
7. Ian Miles (1993), 'Services in the New Industrial Economy', Futures, Special Issue: The Future of Industrialization, 25 (6), July/August, 653–72  100

PART II  THE NATURE OF INNOVATION IN SERVICES: SECTORAL DYNAMICS

PART III MEASURING INNOVATION IN SERVICES AND ITS IMPACTS

PART IV ORGANIZATIONAL AND STRATEGIC PATTERNS FOR SERVICE INNOVATION

PART V KNOWLEDGE INTENSIVE BUSINESS SERVICES IN CLIENTS INNOVATION

PART VI SERVICE INNOVATION BEYOND SERVICE SECTORS

PART VII INNOVATION IN SERVICES AND PUBLIC POLICY

43. Benoît Desmarchelier, Faridah Djellal and Faiz Gallouj (2013), ‘Environmental Policies and Eco-Innovations by Service Firms: An Agent-Based Model’, Technological Forecasting & Social Change, 80 (7), September, 1395–408