Contents

Preface xi
List of contributors xiii

THEME I
The challenge to reclaim pluralism in economics 1
1 Pluralist economics in my lifetime 3
   J.E. King
2 Pluralism in economics: challenges by and for heterodoxy 14
   Frank Stilwell
3 Consistency in pluralism and the role of microfoundations 32
   Sheila Dow

THEME II
The role of history of economic thought in the path to pluralism 47
4 The history of economic thought and its mainstream enemies 49
   Steven Kates
5 The history of economics ‘down under’: repulsing the barbarians at the gate 58
   John Lodgewijk
6 The influence of the history of economic thought on pluralism: the Cambridge economic tradition and Australian economics 76
   Alex Millmow
Contents

THEME III
Pluralism begins – classical ideas, yesterday and today
7 Reclaiming the ‘standpoint of the old classical economists’
   HEINZ D. KURZ
8 Problems in Marx’s theory of the declining profit rate
   JAMES DOUGNEY
9 The ‘Ricardian’ theory of rent: a case study in multiple discovery and its mainstream absorption
   MICHAEL SCHNEIDER
10 On Ricardo and Cambridge
   G.C. HARcourt AND PETER KRIESLER

THEME IV
Pluralism develops – twentieth-century alternatives
11 Kalecki on wages: an alternative to Keynes
   JAN TOPOROWSKI
12 Keynes, Kalecki, Sraffa: coherence within pluralism?
   NEIL HART AND PETER KRIESLER
13 Post Keynesian price theory with a Schumpeterian twist
   HARRY BLOCH
14 Adding a deeper behavioural perspective to macroeconomics:
   the role of George Katona in framing and method
   THERESE JEFFERSON
15 The ‘Complexity Revolution’ seen from a historical and heterodox perspective
   TIM THORNTON

THEME V
Mainstream economics and neoliberalism – resistance to pluralism
16 Veblen and the pretensions to ‘science’ of mainstream economics
   ARNALDO BARONE
17 Neoliberal policy and employer industrial relations strategies in the United States and Australia
   PATRICK O’LEARY
18  Neoliberalism after the global financial crisis: a reconsideration 279
    M.C. HOWARD

CONCLUSION
The road to reclaiming pluralism in economics 301

19  In from the cold: from heterodoxy to a new mainstream pluralism
    JERRY COURVISANOS

Name index 317
Subject index 323