Contents

Acknowledgements vii

1 Introduction: Setting the scene 1

PART I: Years of hope and disappointment (1945-2002) 5
2 The years of promise and gradual disillusion (1945-87) 7
3 Privatization and failure in the private sector (1988-2002) 25

PART II: Building a new nuclear policy (2002-08) 47
4 The return of nuclear power to the policy agenda (2000-05) 49
5 New nuclear build becomes official policy (2005-08) 67
6 The sale of British Energy (2006-08) 86
7 The Climate Change Act strengthens the case for nuclear (2008) 102

PART III: Turning targets into action (2009-13) 111
8 Making it all happen (2009) 113
9 New government, same policy (2010-11) 123
10 Fukushima (2011) 134
11 A change of ownership (2012-13) 148

PART IV: The world's most expensive power station (2012-14) 163
12 The Hinkley Point C project (2013) 165
13 An outstanding deal for EDF? 172
14 Enter the Chinese (2012-14) 192
15 Getting state aid approval (2013-14) 197