About the Authors xi
Acknowledgments xiii

PART I
Laying the Foundations: Time and Temporality 1
1 Introduction 3
2 Understanding Time and Temporality: History, Science, and Philosophy 18
3 Understanding Time and Temporality: Psychology, Sociology, and Organization Studies 41
4 Institutional Time in the Organization and Control of Work 58

PART II
Organizational Change: Time and Temporality 79
5 Episodic Change and Linear Time Sequences in Managing Planned Interventions 81
6 Technical, Social, and Material: Assemblages of Changing Times 100
7 Political Time as an Instrument of Dominance and Power 121
8 Narrative Time and Stories in Making Sense of Change 144
9 Process Studies in Organizations: Digging in the Field 172
10 Process Studies on Emergent Time in Organizing and Becoming 193
x  Contents

11 Processes in the Making: Living Presents and the Multiplicity of Times 210

12 Conclusion 227

Author Index 243
Subject Index 249